Affordable Closets Announces Expansion In Massachusetts

December 21, 2015

December 21, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Affordable Closets has announced that they have recently expanded their operations to include a new store and storage showroom in East Longmeadow, Massachusetts. The new store location is at 176 North Main Street. Until this time, the company has had only one showroom location in Connecticut, and they state that they have been planning the expansion and the opening of their newest showroom for quite some time.

Steve Booth, owner, states, "We've been providing closet systems to our customers in the Hartford, CT area for several years, and we're proud to be able to offer the same dedication to quality service from our new Springfield, MA area location."

The company specializes in closet storage solutions and systems that are custom designed so that they fit regular or walk-in closets, in addition to pantry storage solutions, linen closet systems and organization for home offices, garages, laundry rooms, and other rooms in the home.

The company was originally established in Windsor Locks in 1992 and is locally owned and operated. They boast of affordable yet effective closet storage solutions, and offer free estimates for their customers' homes.

"Affordable closets are what we do," states Booth. "It's in our name and we have a long list of satisfied customers from our original location, which is one of the many reasons that we decided it was time to expand our operations."

The new showroom is now open and Booth invites all of those who are interested to come and visit them at their new location. They offer in-store setup and displays, and they can visit customers at their home or office to evaluate their closet storage needs and provide solution suggestions. Once a closet storage system has been decided upon, the company will install the system for each customer.

Booth states that this is part of the company's overall complete service package. Those who are interested in learning more about Affordable Closets can visit them on their official website. On the website are directions to the original showroom location in Connecticut, as well as a map of directions to the newly opened showroom in East Longmeadow.
