Legacy Matters Ltd., a Cambridge-based estate planning services company, is urging families in Cambridgeshire to find out more about how it can help them protect those they care about the most.

Planning a will is a long and time-consuming process which leads to it being often delayed and family members scrambling to get it done at the last moment. It is not just about a will. It is about power of attorney, trusts, inheritance tax planning, probate planning, funeral planning, and so much more. Legacy Matters offers a simple solution for families to have the right documents in place to make sure they are taken care of should the worst happen.

“At Legacy Matters, we pride ourselves on demystifying legacy planning,” says the spokesperson for Legacy Matters Ltd. “We offer you explanations and guidance from people who really care. Based in Histon and Impington and covering all of Cambridgeshire, our team of legacy experts are easy to reach and easy to understand, giving you solid, reliable information, and advice you can trust.”

A will is a legal document that sets out how an individual’s property and assets will be distributed after they pass away. This document is also known as a “last will and testament”. A will is a crucial document for anyone who wishes to have control over what happens to their assets and belongings after they pass away. Without a will, the distribution of a person’s assets will be decided by the state. The state’s laws will dictate who gets what, regardless of the person’s wishes.

Legacy Matters charges just £149 to produce a single will or £298 for a couple. In fact, using the company is much more cost-effective than using a solicitor. As wills and estate planning specialists, the company does not have to deal with many other topics that solicitors have to deal with. Individuals can write their own wills, but it is not recommended. DIY wills may end up containing mistakes or language that is not legally binding. Legacy Matters can ensure that the will is written correctly, and property owners have total confidence and peace of mind.

“Every adult should have a will,” says the spokesperson. “It is really important that those who own their own property or have children should get professional Legacy Planning advice to make sure that their families are properly protected. Call us today and let us help you in all aspects of legacy planning. Our friendly and knowledgeable team has expertise in every part of the process. We can support your plan for the time when you can’t be there to take care of your loved ones.”

Legacy Matters has earned the trust and admiration of the customers it supports in Cambridgeshire. The company boasts several 5-star reviews on its Google Business Profile where customers praise the helpful and expert advice offered by the company’s employees, the speedy and reliable processing of important documents, and its exemplary customer service.

A recent review says, “Mark recently helped us with the Grant of Probate for my late Uncle and I would highly recommend his services. He was helpful and knowledgeable throughout and really put my Auntie at ease at their first meeting. The probate came through in around 3 months which was much quicker than we were expecting. Thank you for all your help, it’s very much appreciated at a difficult time.”

Another customer writes, “I recently instructed Mark to help my mother with her will as there were complications due to incapacity with one of the beneficiaries. Mark was very informative and made sure that my 85-year-old mother understood everything that was involved, without using technical jargon, and left her feeling very well supported and happy in the knowledge that all beneficiaries would be protected with her will. I cannot recommend Mark highly enough for his knowledge, expertise, and compassion throughout the whole process.”
