December 05, 2023 -
Masters Transportation - Washington, D.C. is happy to announce they are offering bus rental services in Washington, D.C. They offer a broad variety of shuttle bus, sprinter van, and school bus rentals in Washington, D.C, featuring different commercial vehicle sizes and types from the most popular names in the industry including Mercedes, Ford, Forest River, and more. Customers can reserve a shuttle bus with confidence in the knowledge that their experienced service team will carefully examine the vehicle for reliability and safety, clean it well, and walk the client through everything they need to know.

John D. Goodbrake, President and CEO of Masters Transportation, says, ?Our large rental selection means that you will never have an issue finding the right vehicle, regardless of your group's specific transportation needs. Our capabilities have allowed us to partner with businesses across several industries within the DC area including limo companies, construction companies, political groups, operators, and special event companies, and we'd be pleased to serve as your transportation partner.?

In Washington, D.C., one the more popular reasons for renting a vehicle is for political events, speeches, conferences, and rallies. Their vehicles are routinely used by local hotels and limo companies to offer dependable shuttle service for their guests and VIPs to allow them to attend such events. They want to emphasize that a shuttle bus rental makes it convenient and easy to deliver their passengers affordably, comfortably, and safely. The riders of the vehicle can gather at one point and they will all arrive at the same time, which minimizes the likelihood of getting lost.

Some of the popular rental vehicles offered at Masters Transportation - Washington, D.C. include the: Mercedes Benz Sprinter Van, 71 passenger school bus, and 12 passenger + 2 wheelchair shuttle bus. There are a number of important travel destinations in Washington, D.C. These include the: Smithsonian Museum, Lincoln Memorial, National Museum of African American History and Culture, Library of Congress, Dupont Circle neighborhood, Adams Morgan neighborhood, Foggy Bottom neighborhood, and Logan Circle neighborhood.

Masters Transportation - Washington, D.C. also offer various commercial vehicles for sale. They work with a wide range of industries such as: churches, daycare, limo companies, senior living, colleges, non-emergency medical transportation, transportation companies, and government agencies. Their inventory of commercial bus and commercial van includes popular brands, including: Forest River (Glaval, Eldorado and Champion), MSV, Grech, Champion, Executive Coach, Collins, and Braun Mobility.

John D. Goodbrake says, ?Master?s Transportation offers a number of unique advantages to you when looking for buses or sprinter vans to purchase. We have access to lower pricing due to our volume discounts. In addition, we offer unmatched inventory and warranties to ensure you get the best value possible. We have in-house financing, so we are able to make the final decision on credit ? working with every customer?s situation and needs to help them acquire the vehicle of their choice.?

Founded in 1992, Masters Transportation was acquired by John Goodbrake in 2000 when he relocated its headquarters to south Kansas City. Goodbrake opened a sales and service office in Branson, MO in 2003 and expanded the business to include new and used school bus sales. The company kept expanding through the years and now includes an office in Washington, D.C. In addition to offering rental vehicles in a range of time periods and configurations, Masters Transportation applies a unique perspective with regards to leasing vehicles. This privately held corporation is one of the top providers of rental, lease, and purchase of transport vehicles. They rent, lease, or sell 12, 15, 25, 35, and 40 passenger commercial shuttle buses, ADA equipped buses and vans; motor coaches; used commercial and school buses; and school buses and multi-function school activity buses.

Those who are looking for bus rentals in Washington, D.C. can visit the Masters Transportation - Washington, D.C. bus company website or contact them on the phone or through email. They are open from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm from Monday to Friday.
