Chris Townsend from Three Movers says, ?At Three Movers, our goal has always been to provide high quality, reliable moving services for people all across the country. Opening a new office in Homestead, Florida is a way for us to make an important step forward in achieving that goal. Having an office based in Florida will mean that we will be able to effectively and efficiently help both people moving into and out of Florida with all of their moving related needs.?

No matter the type of move in question (whether it is within the state of Florida or outside and across state lines), Three Movers assures that their team will be able to handle it. The company offers a range of services, starting from a simple move to full service packages, that cover everything a client may need.

Three Movers employs a team of professionals who can handle all of the packing and unpacking for their clients, for instance, saving them precious time that can instead be spent on more important matters. In addition, the company also offers car shipping services for anyone who wishes not to drive their vehicle to the destination in question. Once everything has been packed up and loaded into the moving vehicles, the Three Movers team can also take care of cleaning up.

Townsend says, ?At Three Movers, we want to do everything in our power to provide a service that makes life easier for our clients. That means that we are there with you from the beginning to the end. From the moment you get in touch with us to the moment we have unpacked everything at your destination, our team will be by your side, offering you any assistance you need. Now with our Florida offices, we?ll be able to expand our reach to cover more people. If you are planning on moving to a new location, feel free to contact us, and we will be glad to assist you.?

The services provided by ThreeMovers have earned them their place as one of the best movers in the country. The company?s innovative services provide homeowners with stress-free local moves, state-to-state, cross-country, and international moves, and this work ethic has earned them great reviews from clients they have helped over the years.

In a review now proudly featured on the company?s website, Harry J. writes, ?I used Three Movers to move apartments in the Horse Shoe area. Chris and his crew were awesome! They actually asked me if I wanted to move even more stuff that I was planning on bringing myself, just to be helpful. Incredibly friendly moving labor crew, professional, quick, strong, and didn?t damage even a single item during the move. Highly recommended if you need local movers in Horse Shoe.?

In another review, Mike B. writes, ?I want to take a moment to say thank you to the extremely hard working crew that handled my move. I admit I was skeptical of hiring a company to move my household stuff but I was so pleased with the services. These guys packed everything up and had it loaded and delivered in no time at all. Everything was taken care of from start to finish and my wife and I were able to take some much needed time to check out the new town without having to worry about getting things unpacked. Three Movers took care of everything, and we really appreciate it!?
