London, United Kingdom based Lucidx has announced that they are looking for the best car dealers in London. These dealers are needed for a reputation management beta program test. The company guarantees that they can get any car dealer 5 Star reviews in just 60 days through this program.

Deon Bryan from Lucidx says: "We are looking for car dealers to test our reputation management beta program. We guarantee that we can get a dealer a five star review and produce a video commercial in just 60 days, instantly positioning them as the best car dealer in London. All we ask is that the companies we work with have an email list of at least 50 people and we're good to go."

To make good on their promise, Lucidx will first build an email server with a five step email sequence. They then write all the email copy and track analytics and email opens. Next, they also create a custom private feedback page and any five star review that is left is then automatically highlighted and shared. Other work will also be delivered, with the goal of achieving at least one five star review in 30 days, as well as having a review commercial video online in just 60 days.

The program, once fully launched, will cost £1000 to £1500 to take part in, but those who apply here now will be able to save 90%. "You help us and we help you, basically," adds Deon Bryan. "We know our product works, but we need to have a few car dealerships to fine tune it and get feedback. Those who test it for us will be able to enjoy all its benefits at a price that is lower than any other marketing effort they could possibly engage in. It's a win-win situation for everybody involved."

Full details about the new program and other work that Lucidx does to help businesses generate leads are available through the company's website. Customers can also request for a website audit through there to find out the current standing of their site.
