Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services Expects Improvement in Real Estate Values in the Twin Cities as Economy Revs Up

December 20, 2023

ROSEVILLE, MN - December 20, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services, a certified appraisal service company based in Roseville, MN, currently has a positive outlook for real estate values in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. In addition, they expect future increases in real estate values to come from improvements in the economy rather than inflation, which is a positive development. Specializing in industrial, commercial, and investment properties, including complex residential issues, they have established the reputation as the go to firm serving the Twin Cities metro area for more than 40 years.

They want to point out that real estate is property is made up of land and the buildings located on it, including the natural resources of the land such as farmed crops and livestock, uncultivated flora and fauna, water and minerals. Real estate can be categorized into three broad categories depending on its use: residential, industrial, and commercial. Examples of residential real estate include houses, condominiums, undeveloped land, and townhomes. Examples of commercial real estate are warehouses, retail store buildings, and office buildings. Examples of industrial real estate are factories, farms, and mines.

Clark Goset, owner of Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services, says, ?When you employ our services, you can count on receiving accurate and legally defensible real property values. We ensure that our work will stand up in court as well as in the market place. That way we spend less time in court ? especially when complicated and adversarial interests come into the equation.?

They have different types of appraisal reports and formats for appraising residential properties. These are the Uniform Residential Appraisal Report, Form 1073 for the Individual Condominium Unit Appraisal, and Form 1025, which is the appraisal report for residential income, multiple family dwellings. They offer two types of written reports, which are the: complete, self-contained report; and the summary report.

The real estate appraisal experts at Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services have been involved in range of legal issues, such as: stigmatized property; condemnation and eminent domain cases; marital dissolution divorce, partnership, taxation issues etc.; easement disputes; title flaws; estate settlement; bankruptcy, lean striping etc.; loan underwriting; construction defect, or physical obsolescence; insurance disputes; eminent domain takings; litigation support; relocation?s foreclosures; estates & probate; municipal assessment; and retrospective appraisals.

Clark Goset continues, ?We have performed residential appraisals ranging from smaller city properties to the complex multi-million dollar properties located on Lake Minnetonka. We have appraised estates holding one to several properties. Residential properties, including relocation properties, comprise about 30 percent of our total yearly project list.?

Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services is committed to being unbiased in their provision of legal appraisal services. However, they can consult with the client and offer advice on the relative strength of an appraisal that is being prevented by rival parties. They can also conduct additional research and analysis to either support or counteract any assumptions or conclusions. With their proven track record and experience, they are capable of handling any kind of appraisal assignment and the appraisal values they come up can stand up under the most severe scrutiny.

Clark Goset, owner of Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services, started his career in 1983 as an independent real estate appraiser serving the Twin Cities Metropolitan market. At present, he has developed a portfolio of over 10,000 fee appraisals and his client list contains more than 300 local lawyer, #4002042 relocation, and financial companies. He is also a certified real estate valuation expert witness for state, federal, and county courts. He earned his BS degree in 1971 from the School of Business of the University of Hawaii. He served as a realtor in the Twin Cities area for many years before deciding to specialize in independent real estate appraisals. He is certified as a general real property appraiser for all types of real estate.
