Divorces, while often messy and emotionally charged, can be necessary to empower individuals who are stuck in a relationship that causes them pain and turbulence rather than offering them sanctuary and peace. When the decision is made, there are hundreds of other questions to ponder on such as finances, the children's future, and how to divide the assets that have been accumulated over the years of the marriage. As an experienced and effective divorce attorney, Lisa Amundson has seen it all and done it all when it comes to divorce law and has ample guidance to offer her clients during a difficult time in their lives.

"The holidays can be a perilous time for relationships," says Lisa Amundson, "and sometimes the best course of action is to make the move and resolve to divorce in the new year. Though divorce is not ideal, when a relationship is over, it is often for the best to take action. Feel free to consult me about the legal steps you will have to take during our initial free consultation. We will help you understand the parameters of the process and help you each step of the way should you decide to move forward.?

Child support attorney Lisa Amundson's practice areas include family law, child custody, child support, divorce and divorce planning, spousal support, modifications to support, custody and parenting, domestic abuse/OFP/HO, and more. The law office serves residents all across Minnesota including Dakota County, Scott County, Hennepin County, Ramsey County, Washington County, and the Twin Cities Metro Area.

Lisa Amundson explains the divorce process by saying, "The process starts with filing for divorce when you send or receive the paperwork to petition the court for a divorce. Next, filing for temporary support and custody puts some structure in place while you are working through the divorce process. Following this, you begin the discovery process where both parties get equal access to documentation for mortgages, retirement accounts, and other key financial information. We will be by your side pursuing the best possible outcome for you and your family. Then we begin the negotiations to settle on a good compromise which takes experience and a solid understanding of the law. Finally, once we have settled all major issues, we submit the agreement to the family law court for approval. If we are unable to reach a settlement, we initiate the trial process.?"

The Amundson Law Office LLC has, over the years, received tremendous feedback from the clients it has helped separate from their spouses with the conditions of the divorce in their favor. Its Google Business Profile boasts an impressive overall rating of 4.6 out of 5.0 from 10 reviews with clients praising Lisa and her team for their thorough and compassionate guidance, their responsive customer service, and the results the Minnesota divorce lawyer was able to deliver for them.

A recent review says, "Ms. Amundson is an amazing lawyer. She is detailed, kept me on my toes, and really fought for me, reminding me of my own worth, and was able to put into perspective my divorce. She is a fighter, someone who understands the lengthy and strenuous process of the family court system and truly guided me through it. Lisa kept up with my emails, checked in with me after her working hours, and was able to provide a roadmap that made sense. I highly recommend her.?"

Another client writes, "I was pleased to have Ms. Amundson represent me. She was attentive. Quick to respond and thoroughly explain any questions I had. I was pleased with the overall outcome of my situation and feel she was able to achieve the best outcome for my case.?"
