January 03, 2024

Derbyshire, England - January 03, 2024 -

Watertight Homes Ltd, a company based in Tingley, Wakefield, UK, is offering property care and preservation services in Leeds and neighbouring areas. They offer a wide variety of services, such as damp proofing, commercial tanking, dry rot and wet rot, condensation treatment, basement conversion, woodworm treatment, and cavity wall ties. The company currently has an overall rating of 4.7 out of 5 stars on Google, which proves the high quality of their services.

Damp proofing is a general term for the tools and methods for controlling and eliminating moisture that has accumulated within walls and floors into the interior of a building or property. Their team of damp proofing specialists have years of experience in offering professional damp solutions. They are fully trained and qualified to detect and diagnose different kinds of damp problems and their exact causes. They offer high-quality cost-effective solutions and treatments for damp related issues after conducting an initial examination.

Watertight Homes can also provide basement conversion, which is a cost-effective way of providing more living space to a home without having to overhaul the structure of the exterior of the property. They take pride in providing the best basement conversions specialist in each area they cover, with extensive knowledge and expertise in providing well crafted bespoke basements that are tailor-fitted to the client's unique requirements.

Meanwhile, basements that are affected by damp and moisture may have several problems. Aside from possibly resulting into structural issues for the home, having mould and fungus in the home can be harmful to the health of the residents of the home. Most basements in homes, whether old or new builds, are affected by some degree of dampness or water ingress and it is frequently a challenge to find where the dampness is coming from. However, their basement waterproofing services can eradicate all traces of moisture within the property.

Watertight Homes can also offer woodworm treatment. A spokesperson for the company says, "Woodworm beetles do not attack humans but may cause significant damage to your home. If left untreated, woodworm infestations may compromise the structural integrity of a property. If you're dealing with these unwanted intruders, we offer a guide that has everything you need to know about woodworms and woodworm treatment. No matter how large the issue, we've got it covered."

They can also provide cavity wall ties, which are also called brick ties. The purpose of these metal ties is to bond the inner and outer walls of the home together. These ties are kept hidden from view after construction but play a key role in ensuring the stability of the building.

Watertight Homes can also offer wet rot treatment. Wet rot is a fungus that loves to eat unprotected timber in the home. It feeds on the moisture and penetrates into the timber, but it doesn't only consume the wood but also other parts of the home, such as wallpaper, plaster, carpet, or any organic material.

Founded in 2000, Watertight Homes Ltd has been providing property care and preservation services for homes and businesses in Leeds, Manchester, and Yorkshire, for more than 20 years. They provide a broad range of services, specialising in damp proofing, basement conversion, commercial tanking, dry rot and wet rot, condensation treatment, cavity wall ties and woodworm treatment. They are capable of delivering expert workmanship and promise to support clients throughout the process, from consultation to the completion of the work. Their service area includes the city centre, Headingley, Chapel Allerton, Horsforth, Moortown, Meanwood, Roundhay, Oakwood, Guiseley, Alwoodley, and more.

The high quality of their services is attested to by their five star reviews. For instance, in a recent five-star review of Watertight Homes, Lewis B. gave them five stars and said, "We had Watertight do some damp work and replace our brickties .I would highly recommend them for both, especially brickties as they gave a much better quote compared to others. Matt and his team were great at communicating, very friendly and professional. Watertight will be our go to guys for any future damp work we need.?
