Dry Star Restoration is capable of providing water damage cleanup throughout Scottsdale as well as its neighboring areas. From water removal and extraction to full restoration, from any emergency that any home or building may experience, such as bathtub overflow, sink overflow, broken or leaky pipes, air conditioner leaks, refrigerator, washing machine, water heater, and dishwasher overflow, toilet overflow and leaks, crawlspace drying, sump pump failure, or hardwood floor water damage, their water removal services can take care of such issues. Their water restoration technicians are all certified and highly educated in the latest water damage restoration and remediation technology and techniques.

Certain moisture detecting tools are used to determine where the water has migrated. They will deal with all of these areas and make sure they are properly dried. Any structural damage will be repaired or replaced. The best possible care and current methods are used to stop damage caused by swelling, delaminating, warping, and buckling. Their timeliness and professionalism in performing such water damage services can make sure that odors, mold, and various health problems can be avoided.

In addition to emergency water removal, Dry Star Restoration can also provide sewage cleanup & removal throughout Scottsdale AZ. A problem with the sewer system can cause more serious problems. Aside from the obnoxious stench produced, other issues such as fungi, viruses, and other pathogens can be present and are serious health risks. If sewage issues remain untreated, they can also result in substantial structural damage which can be costly to repair.

Richard Appel says, ?Sewage damage may contain higher amounts of dangerous bacteria and there are severe health risks related to such damage. It is critical that you simply don?t attempt to clean up a mess out of any broken pipes which are linked to a sewage line. Exposure to raw sewage could cause disease, destroy valuables, and cause serious harm to your home or office. Only trained professionals with the correct equipment must handle sewage removal. Our team of certified experts have many years of experience resolving several sewage cleanup and repair issues. When sewage backup cleanup is needed, Dry Star has you covered.?
