Chicago Trusted Attorneys, a criminal defense law firm based in Chicago, is laying the path forward for how criminal defense should be practiced in 2024 and beyond.

Individuals accused of crimes face dire consequences. While law enforcement and the judicial system like to reiterate the phrase "innocent until proven guilty," in the real world, the accused often get stigmatized and are subjected to unfair treatment that they don't deserve. After the case is deliberated and a conviction is handed down, the result is, possibly, spending years or even decades in prison deprived of all freedoms while the life they once had passes them by on the outside. A criminal conviction can also mean serious debt as felony charges can be as high as $25,000.

"Being a convicted felon can have a terrible impact on your future," says David M. Smith, the Founding Attorney and CEO of Chicago Trusted Attorneys. "Most potential landlords or employers will see your record and immediately refuse to rent to you or hire you. It can also make it nigh impossible for you to seek custody of your children if you ever get divorced. Your criminal record follows you around wherever you go, turning your life upside down at every step. So, for your own safety, we recommend you seek representation from an experienced criminal defense attorney immediately. To find out more, visit <https://goo.gl/maps/VN3VHYdjQfRanzxt7>.

Every case is given the personalized attention it deserves, and a tailor-made defense is created to shield the client from the prosecutor's attacks. The firm's attorneys will also be available to answer phone calls around the clock to keep clients and their families constantly updated.

David says, "We treat our clients like family. We will be there for you because we believe in building real relationships that persevere. That is why our clients trust us like they do. Soon after the initial consultation, we will quote you a fee so that you know what to expect before going into the partnership. Then, we will work on finding evidence, building a bulletproof defense, and identifying a solution for you.
