Nicholas Perot Smith Koehler & Wall, P.C. in Columbia, MO, takes pride in their personal injury services in Columbia and neighboring areas. Their personal injury attorneys are ready to represent victims of accident injuries, including auto accidents, 18-wheeler accidents, motorcycle accidents, slip and fall accidents, dog bites, and more. They file personal injury claims on behalf of people who had suffered from burn injuries, amputations, back and spine injuries, and broken bones caused by another individual?s actions or negligence.

A spokesperson for the law firm says, ?We stand up for those who have been the victims of nursing home abuse and neglect. With locations in New York, Pennsylvania, and Missouri, we also handle workers? compensation and Social Security Disability Benefits claims. If you or a loved one have been injured in an accident, whether on the road or at work, our personal injury lawyers can help.?

They want to point out that the cases they handle include: vehicle accidents, car accidents, truck accidents, motorcycle accidents, worker?s compensation, social security disability, wrongful death, premises liability, dog bites, and slip and fall accidents.

Vehicular accidents have been the cause of some of the most severe injuries. Unfortunately, victims of such accidents frequently have to file lawsuits against the individual responsible for the accident to receive the compensation they deserve and pay of the expenses incurred as a result of their injuries. The injury lawyers fully understand the right of the accident victim to get compensated for the physical and financial damages suffered. Some of the severe injuries that they may suffer from include: broken and fractured bones, puncture wounds and lacerations, whiplash, injuries to internal organs, closed and open head wounds, injuries to the spinal column, paralysis, soft tissue injuries, burns, facial injuries and disfigurement, crush injuries, amputations, and wrongful death.

Nicholas Perot Smith Koehler & Wall, P.C. can also handle premises liability cases. This is based on the concept that everyone, including customers, employees, visitors, tenants and others, have the right to safe access in a home, a retail store, a workplace, or any other establishment. Owners of properties have a responsibility to ensure safety and are to blame if someone is hurt in their premises and they were truly negligent. Common sources of injury in premises include wet floors, loose railings, broken stairs, improper wiring, insufficient lighting, uneven concrete, and toxic substances. The resulting injuries can be costly and debilitating, and victims can seek damages through a premises liability lawsuit. Typical injuries include: cuts and bruises, dislocated joints, concussions, broken bones, traumatic brain injury (TBI), spinal cord and herniated disk injury, back and neck injury, internal organ injury, and wrongful death.

They can also handle workers? compensation cases. These are cases where a worker or employee was injured while on the job or while inside the workplace and is experiencing problems in filing a claim with their lawyer. Workers? compensation insurance is supposed to protect employees with no-fault treatment for work injuries. Nevertheless, employers are responsible for ensuring workers have a safe work environment to minimize the risks of workplace injuries. Typical causes of workplace injuries include: equipment malfunctions, falling objects, improper equipment, explosions, scaffolding accidents, ladder accidents, and inadequate training.

Nicholas Perot Smith Koehler & Wall P.C., with offices in Missouri and Pennsylvania, has established a track record of helping accident victims receive the maximum financial compensation they are entitled to, for more than 40 years. More than 90 percent of the firm?s cases settle without going to court because they treat every case as if it is going to court. They believe that it is the threat of going to court that is basically what settles these cases and gets optimum compensation for the client.
