December 22, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Columbus SEO is offering game-changing SEO services in the Columbus region. The tailored services are emphasized by the fact that the company only works with one client per niche, an ideal that co-founder Eric Spurling believes brings the highest possible level of quality and dedication to each project.

"We just don't see how you can take money from two professionals in the same industry and in the same market. Who do you really want to be #1?" said Spurling.

The veteran-owned company offers power-packed SEO services that are designed to enhance web visibility for their clients, as well as services such as web design, social media management, and reputation management. More information can be found at <http://thecolumbusseo.com/>.
