Sarah James, based in Hoboken, NJ, is proud to announce the launch of the Sarah James Jazz Merch Pop Up store. An artist known for her visionary approach to music, photography and poetry, her latest venture (and the ones that will follow it) are unique in that they focus on a single item. See more here: <https://www.sarahjames.com>.

The stores will stock shower curtains, T-shirts, mugs, household items and more (to be announced soon). James intends to announce other Pop Up stores soon, but the upcoming installation will stock designer shower curtains featuring James' trademark artistry in new and exciting forms. Currently, the artist's merchandise includes a wide variety of items. Her creations exist at the intersection of art, poetry and fashion. As an artist, James has always sought to combine different mediums and methods to create new and exciting works of art, and that extends to her merchandise.

"For years, I have dreamt of transforming the ordinary into something more using art," says James. "I have recently taken to incorporating my art into ordinary household items, and shower curtains are my latest canvas," so to speak. At this pop-up, I intend to present you with more than just fabric on hooks that you will forget almost as soon as you hang it up. I want to present you with a work of passion that will make mundane everyday tasks, something as simple as taking a shower for example, into exciting artistic experiences."

The artist is excited to be able to share her art at the upcoming event and invites art enthusiasts in the area to attend. Take a look at some of her merchandise at the following link: <https://sarahjamesjazzmerch.printify.me/products>.

She elaborates, "Every design tells a different story, and I am excited for you to experience those stories with me at the upcoming pop-up. My heart and soul as an artist goes into everything I work on, and I invite you to take a little piece of that with you into your homes to be enjoyed in your quiet places during your quietest moments. There is plenty more to come, and each pop-up will offer up a different experience for all of us.?

James seeks to honor diversity through her art, using it as a vehicle to show appreciation for the traditions and symbols that hold profound meaning for a range of different communities. The awe-inspiring Hindu Goddess, Durga, for example, is one of many figures honored by the artist. Known for her extraordinary power and boundless compassion, the goddess' divine presence can now be brought into any home on a shower curtain.

At Sarah James Jazz Merch, customers are invited and encouraged to explore an exciting collection of unique and vibrant products that showcase James' exceptional talent and creativity. With a particular focus on her line of NYC graffiti-shirts, and her nature-inspired line of shower curtains and throw pillows, the brand offers a captivating array of edgy, colorful and thought-provoking street art from the heart of New York City and beyond. Aptly named 'T-shirts with attitude,' these designs are sure to make a statement and leave a lasting impression.
