Sarah James Jazz Merch, based in Hoboken, NJ, is delighted to share a look at one of the brand's latest designer products: the Upland Rd Mountain Sunset View Shower Curtain. All of the prints used in the brand's shower curtains are from photos taken by Sarah James herself. See more here: <https://sarahjamesjazzmerch.printify.me/products>.

James' aim with her photography is always to capture the fleeting and the momentous, particularly if a subject conveys a message or imparts a lesson of some sort. Her images, as a result, can be an eclectic mix of the sublime and the provocative, as fans of her brand's 'T-shirts with Attitude' line may already be familiar with. Her shower curtains, however, lean towards the former, carrying images that are meant to revitalize the owner and fill them with an appreciation of the world around them.

She notes in the product's listing, "This image is a perfect sunset from Upland Rd in Marbletown, NY. The Catskill Mountains have always been a magnet for artists of all kinds. The light, the air, the magic trees, the bears, the eagles, the Ashokan Reservoir, and all the magnificent entities that call the Catskills their home seem to blend perfectly together to generate a feeling of well-being and appreciation of life. This photo captures the serenity and gentle perfection of Spirit that permeates the Catskills. If you live here, you are fortunate, but just having this image in sight every day will lift your spirit and keep you in gratitude!"

Artists of all kinds have long had a deep fascination with the sunset and the brilliant hues it can evoke within the skies above. Like other images that span the heavens, a sunset holds immense beauty and serenity, and this can greatly enhance the experience of a personal space, such as a bathroom.

The bathroom is not merely a utilitarian room but also a sanctuary where one can find solace and relaxation. By incorporating a view of the sunset from Upland Rd, the ambiance of the bathroom would be one step closer to a tranquil haven, offering a visual treat and a reprieve from the stresses of daily life. In fact, this is exactly what James hopes most (if not all) of her shower curtains will help her customers and community achieve. See more here: <https://www.facebook.com/sarahjamesjazz>.

She comments that "Sunsets possess a captivating allure that is difficult to resist. The vibrant hues of orange, red, and pink painting the sky as the sun descends below the horizon create a mesmerizing spectacle. Gazing at such a magnificent view can be incredibly calming and rejuvenating, making it the perfect addition to a bathroom where we seek solace and self-care. Here, the horizon is filled with the grandeur of the mountains, reminding you that you can explore a great deal beyond your hectic schedule and technological devices."

James is an explorer, both urban and otherwise, and she spends much of her time investigating every sight and sound in the world around her. She is a massive aficionado of the art that can be found outdoors, from the beauty of the natural world to the stylistic splendor of street art and graffiti. In particular, she is known for seeking out and documenting street art in NYC, examples of which are proudly featured on her T-shirts and other merchandise.

According to James, the best art can often serve both a functional and aesthetic purpose, allowing people to express themselves while going about their daily lives. T-shirts are an excellent example of this, especially since they can be emblazoned with anything from catchy slogans to captivating images, but James has also extended her entrepreneurial pursuits to include duffel bags, yoga leggings, candles, and much more. A full list of her shower curtains can be found on her latest pop-up store, but other merchandise is available through the Sarah James website.
