Developed by Sarah James, the Sarah James Jazz Merch brand has come to represent a convergence of artistic and functional values. The brand has a large number of items for sale, such as clothing, laptop sleeves, phone cases, and much more, and its latest offerings include a line of designer shower curtains featured as part of the latest Sarah James Jazz Merch pop-up store. The "Woman Playing Piano" is one example of these shower curtains that James expects customers to be particularly fond of.

Measuring a full 71" x 74", the Woman Playing Piano shower curtain features yet another photograph captured by James herself. All the shower curtains carry images that she came across in her life and travels, and they each have a unique story to tell or a lesson to impart. Their prominent position in the bathroom means they are often among the first and last images a person would see during their day.

As noted in the listing, "Here is an image of a woman playing piano, playing jazz. This image will hopefully inspire musicians to keep playing music, keep practicing, and keep bringing beauty and joy into this crazy world we live in. SarahJamesJazzMerch is dedicated to music and everything that music represents: music's ability to transcend language, transcend age, transcend culture. Every human being experiences the passages of love, luck, and all matters of the heart. Except of course, all those "cruellians" hell-bent on creating suffering. Either way, music reflects life! Enjoy!" See more here: <https://www.sarahjames.com>.
