Sarah James Tops NYC Jazz Charts: Jazz & Blues Singer Scores Big with "Dagger Blues"

February 10, 2024

February 10, 2024 -
Jazz and Blues singer Sarah James recently soared to the number one spot on the NYC Jazz Charts with her hit song "Dagger Blues," retaining the position for two consecutive weeks. This track, enriched with an authentic blues vibe, narrates a story of resilience and empowerment, making it a favorite amongst jazz enthusiasts.

"Dagger Blues" distinguishes itself with its gritty emotional depth and engaging narrative, rendered through a 12 bar blues composition. The song proudly displays the outstanding musical talents of John Bicknell on piano, John Menegon on bass, and Richard Pierson on drums, marking a significant milestone in Sarah James's career. The music community also pays tribute to the late John Bicknell, whose invaluable contributions to the track have left an enduring mark.

Sarah James's achievement on the jazz charts is a reflection of her unwavering commitment and exceptional artistry, qualities that have garnered her recognition both locally and internationally. With a foundation deeply rooted in music and poetry, Sarah James has developed a versatile portfolio, including several albums, poetry collections, and a range of other creative endeavors detailed on her website at sarahjames.com.

In response to this accomplishment, Sarah James shared her thoughts and gratitude, stating, ?Being acknowledged as the #1 song on the NYC Jazz Charts for two weeks straight is an inspiring and humbling experience. It validates the emotional and creative investment in 'Dagger Blues' and reinforces the connection my music has with listeners.?

Looking forward, Sarah James is in the process of crafting a new collection of blues songs anticipated for release in late fall 2024. This project, composed by James, aims to offer more of the soulful and captivating tunes her followers have grown to admire.
