Smiles Dental Group, located in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, is excited to unveil a campaign offering free orthodontic consultations for those considering Invisalign and traditional braces. This initiative is set out to provide detailed information and evaluations for individuals looking into orthodontic treatments to improve their smile. As a premier dental clinic in Edmonton, with seven branches throughout the city and its vicinity, Smiles Dental Group is dedicated to delivering accessible and top-notch dental services like general, cosmetic, emergency, and family dentistry.

The cornerstone of this campaign is to clarify the orthodontic treatment process, helping potential patients to grasp the advantages and necessities of choosing Invisalign or traditional braces. It highlights Smiles Dental Group's commitment to enhancing dental health and aesthetics for the community. During the consultation, patients will receive a comprehensive examination of their dental health and alignment issues, followed by a customized treatment plan tailored to their unique needs and objectives.

Alex Yeh, a spokesperson for Smiles Dental Group, stressed the significance of the campaign. "Orthodontic treatment is a significant decision, and we are here to ensure our patients have all the necessary information to choose wisely. Our team is here to provide guidance through every phase of the process," Yeh said.

With a team of skilled professionals and cutting-edge facilities, the clinic is well-prepared to handle a wide range of dental needs, from emergency services to comprehensive orthodontic treatments.

Additionally, Smiles Dental Group is actively supporting the recently launched $13 billion Canadian Dental Care Plan (CDCP), a government initiative aimed at providing routine dentistry coverage for eligible low- and middle-income people in Canada.
