We want to help communities, organizations and individuals succeed. One way we achieve this is through our Express corporate giving program, which truly reflects our vision of helping as many people as possible into excellent employment, and of helping as many businesses as possible to find the best possible people."

Express Employment Professionals is one of the most respected Portland, OR employment agencies. This is due to the fact that they always have high quality jobs on offer, and because they ensure they find the best

"I love the fact that, when I find a candidate through Express Employment Professionals, I find someone whom I know will be perfect for the job," says Simone T., who regularly finds new candidates through the business. "But what's more, I like the fact that the money I pay them also goes back into the community through their various sponsorship programs and more. I heard that they have sponsored the Les Schwab Invitational, for instance, which is a great showcase of local athletic talent."
