CHATTANOOGA, TN ? Crowder Eye Center, a cornerstone of Chattanooga's optometric services since 1943, is proud to announce that it has been featured in the upcoming issue of The Scout Guide, a magazine known for highlighting the best of local businesses in the city. This feature, set to be released on Feb. 3, showcases the center's commitment to excellence in eye care and its contributions to the community.

Dr. Joshua Crowder, the founder of Crowder Eye Center, expressed his enthusiasm for the feature. "Being selected for The Scout Guide is not just an honor, it's a testament to the dedication we've put into our practice," said Dr. Crowder. "We are excited to share our story with the Chattanooga community and beyond."

Crowder Eye Center has provided comprehensive eye care in Chattanooga for decades. The practice, originally established in 1943 as Dr. Dzik and Associates, was taken over by Dr. Crowder in 2010. Since then, the center has continued to evolve, offering a wide array of services ranging from pediatric to senior eye care, contact lens fittings, ocular disease management, and cutting-edge vision therapy.

Dr. Crowder, with his unique background as a former Olympic hopeful, applies the same level of dedication and precision to optometry that he did in athletics. This approach has been instrumental in shaping the center's ethos ? a commitment to providing well-rounded and personalized eye care.

The magazine's upscale distribution aligns perfectly with Crowder Eye Center's aim to attract a diverse patient demographic, especially those who value high-quality, comprehensive eye care services. The feature is also an opportunity to showcase the practice's state-of-the-art technology and personalized care approach to a broader audience.

"We hope that our feature in The Scout Guide inspires more people to visit us and experience the difference in our care approach," said Dr. Crowder.

Besides comprehensive eye exams and contact lens services, Crowder Eye Center is also known for helping patients manage complex ocular conditions like keratoconus, dry eye syndrome, and diabetic eye disease. The center's commitment to using advanced technology, like Optomap and OCT, ensures that patients receive thorough examinations and accurate diagnoses.

The center's optical shop is another highlight, with an extensive selection of over 750 frames, including specialty lenses and colored contacts. Their opticians are passionate about eyewear, ensuring that each patient finds the perfect fit that reflects their style and needs.

In keeping with their community-oriented values, Crowder Eye Center actively involves itself in local events and initiatives. Dr. Crowder's personal experiences with vision challenges fuel his passion for early and effective eye care, especially for children.

"Our feature in The Scout Guide is not just about our practice, it's about our vision for the community's eye health," said Dr. Crowder. "We invite everyone to explore the services we offer and to join our journey towards better vision for all."
