DSB Products, a company headquartered in Keller, TX, is proud to announce the successful launch of their Lego Shapes Candy Mold set. This set is part of the Happy Cook Kitchen Essentials product line, which is available on Amazon. The candy mold set has only been recently introduced and is already proving to be very popular. The product is available through <http://www.amazon.com/Candy-Molds-Happy-Cook>.

D.S. Barnett, the founder of DSB Products, says: "The candy mold is the latest product in our Happy Cook product line and we're so glad to see that people are loving it already. 2015 was a really good year for our company, thanks to the continued trust and enthusiasm of our customers. We are excited about 2016, when we will be releasing a variety of other additions to the Happy Cook line."

The candy molds include several shapes and sizes of Lego shaped bricks as well as three sizes of Lego Men. A total of 6 molds are included in the set; three with Lego Bricks and three with Lego Men. Lego enthusiasts as well as kids and moms have taken notice of the molds as they are useful for not only candy and gummy making but also for craft ideas such as candles, chawks, crayons and more. The candy molds are constructed from silicone which makes them very flexible to easily remove the candies and crafts. Silicone is suitable for baking in the oven, heating in the microwave, and placing in the freezer. The silicone used to make these molds is a premium food grade silicone, is BPA free, and FDA approved. It is durable and is ideal for both candy and gummy making and non-food craft activities.

Happy Cook is a brand of kitchen products that has been developed by DSB Products. The new candy mold set is part of this line, of which the flagship product was the silicone cupcake and muffin pan. This incredibly popular product was released in the second quarter of 2015 and the company has gone from strength to strength ever since. To date, six different products have been included in the Happy Cook line and 2016 will be seeing a number of new additions. All products are and will be available through the Amazon marketplace.

The new candy mold set is already receiving many positive reviews, as can be seen on <http://www.amazon.com/review/kitchen>. "Now this was really fun," says one happy customer. "As a homeschooling mom, we're always looking for something fun to do that has a strong teaching component. So what better than playing with our food. These molds were exactly what we were looking for. Who doesn't love Legos? Each "tray" is made of silicone - they are sturdy and well made. The possibilities are endless. These are keepers."

The candy mold set from Happy Cook also comes with a 10 page booklet titled "Blocks, Bricks and Robot Invaders Candy Molds" which is a recipe and idea booklet. It contains directions for nine different projects to get the user started using the molds right away. The booklet contains the ingredients and the steps for each item as well as colorful pictures of the items. Barnett said, "We created and included the recipe and idea booklet to make sure our customers could have fun with the candy molds the day they arrive. The most popular, tasty and fun things to make with this set are explained simply and clearly. From there, the fun is limited only by your imagination."
