

New Silicone Bundt Cake Pan Released By DSB Products

January 04, 2016

January 04, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

DSB Products, a business operating from Keller, TX, is proud to introduce the Silicone Bundt Cake Pan. This is the latest addition to their line of Happy Cook Kitchen Essentials products, which are fully available on Amazon. The cake pan was introduced several weeks ago and was immediately classed as a '#1 New Release' in the Bundt pan category on Amazon. The product is available on Amazon from <http://amazon.com/Happy-Cook-Bundt-Pan>.

Founder of DSB Products, D.S. Barnett, says: "We're so happy to see that our latest Happy Cook product is so well received. Our customers have come to know us for our high quality products and excellent service, and it is good to see that this is translated into immediate popularity for new products."

The Bundt pan is for baking a full sized Bundt style cake, with a volume of 10 cups, a diameter of about 9.5 inches, and a traditional round fluted shape. The pan is manufactured from food grade silicone, BPA free, meets FDA standards, and comes in a vibrant purple color. Silicone baking pans are safe for use in the oven, a microwave, dishwasher and the freezer. Silicone is resilient and will maintain its shape indefinitely. Silicone pans can be mashed and squeezed when stored and they will pop right back into their molded shape when taken out. Silicone pans do not absorb odors or retain any flavors after use. In addition, silicone will not rust or lose a non-stick coating. D.S. Barnett said, "Because of all the advantages from the flexibility and non-stick properties of silicone, it is the perfect material for our Happy Cook Bundt Cake Pan. After comparing the easy release of baked goods, the non-stick properties, and easy cleanup of silicone vs metal pans, we chose silicone to offer our customers. This pan can be used for many creations other than cakes as well."

DSB Products introduced the Happy Cook product line in mid-2015 and expanded the offering throughout the rest of the year. 2016 will see additional expansion of the product line according to the founder. The new Silicone Bundt Cake Pan is an addition made in the fourth quarter of 2015. The inaugural product launched by the company was the Happy Cook silicone cupcake, muffin, and quiche pan with 12 standard sized cups. With this latest addition, the Happy Cook line now includes six individual products and more are set to be added in 2016. All products will be available on Amazon.

As stated, the new Bundt cake pan is already becoming very popular, has received many 5 star reviews, as can be seen on <http://www.amazon.com/review/R95M>. "This Bundt pan exceeded my expectations," says Hannah O. "I love to bake, so when I came across this pan I got really excited. The pan is super lightweight, it baked my cake to perfection. It came as described, the size was perfect. I hope to come across more products like this. The silicone makes the baking go smoothly and also easy to remove cakes from the pans. I used the pan tonight and made my first Bundt cake and it came out perfect thanks to this pan. I recommend to anyone interested in this pan, to get it. I love this pan so I know anyone else who uses it will too."

Details about the new Bundt Cake Pan and the entire Happy Cook product line can be found on <http://www.amazon.com/Happy-Cook/>.
