March 18, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ATC Brokers, a firm recognized across multiple regulatory jurisdictions providing financial services, is set to implement a pioneering pricing engine. This trailblazing technology is set to revolutionize the way prices are formulated in the numerous markets that the company works with. The technology amasses data from a range of sources, including Electronic Communication Network (ECN) engines, liquidity suppliers, and general market participants to generate exhaustive pricing info and redefine how clients engage with real-time market data.

Dave Manoukian, CEO of ATC Brokers, shares, "The new pricing engine is a strategic initiative designed to enhance our clients' trading experience. Our pioneering technology not only intelligently reacts to market fluctuations but also predicts market movements ahead of notable economic announcements."

The pricing engine of ATC Brokers sets itself apart through its swift response to market variations. Take, for instance, when spreads broaden due to excessive exposure, commonly seen in the gold market wherein liquidity providers mitigate risk. Rather than merely reflecting these alterations, ATC Brokers' system comprehensively assesses the overall market environment, determining whether the spread expansion is an isolated incident or a part of a bigger market trend.

Another distinctive characteristic of the pricing engine is its forward-thinking approach to adjusting prices in anticipation of vital economic announcements. The brokerage firm's no-desk arrangement allows for automated price modifications in view of expected risk, affirming that ATC Brokers' prices aren't solely reliant on individual liquidity suppliers or feeds, fortifying price steadiness and trustworthiness.

Manoukian goes on to say, "Our Smart Pricing Engine also guarantees diversified insights gleaned from multiple sources, offering our clients a more substantial and wide-ranging pricing strategy. As far as we are aware, no other brokers present this level of advanced market analysis and price adjustment capabilities at present."

With offerings such as Forex trading, CFD trading, Cryptocurrency trading, and other products, ATC Brokers has established itself as a fore-runner in providing a fair trading environment for its clientele. Their variety of services doesn't end there; they also have Self-Directed trading, Account Manager, Introducing Broker, and White Label services, maintaining a diverse range of opportunities for clients of all skill levels.

An emphasis on client education completes ATC Brokers' commitment to their customers. They offer insightful guides to widen industry knowledge, improve trading skills, and respond correctly to global financial market occurrences. Their resources include Learn to Trade, Economic Calendar, Market Insight, and Market News.
