Pensacola, FL, 3/7/24 ? Marlee Bruno M.M.S., PA-C, CMLC, the founder of aesthetics training academy Injector Coach Institute, has recently been recognized as a national speaker at technology company InMode's 2024 conference. InMode is a leading global provider of various medical devices that offer minimally invasive to non-invasive cosmetic treatments, including the world-famous Morpheus8 radiofrequency microneedling platform. Bruno, who also founded Mind Body & Soul Medical Aesthetics & Wellness, showcases her deep expertise and accomplishments in the medical aesthetics field through this engagement and her dedication to ongoing education. Her efforts enrich Injector Coach Institute students by providing them with current industry knowledge and developments.

At the InMode conference, Bruno spoke and performed demonstrations of Morpheus8 in conjunction with injections of dilute Radiesse, a biostimulator that promotes collagen production within the skin.

?I discussed the use of the Optimas and Morpheus8 platforms in my practice as an adjunct to therapies already offered,? said Bruno, referring to Mind Body & Soul Medical's offerings. ?We also performed a live Morpheus8 demo with dilute Radiesse injections during the same treatment.?

Bruno is recognized for her focus on regenerative care, a type of care that improves over time and offers patients long-term benefits and structural support due to the modality and function of treatments used. This specialization is essential to Injector Coach Institute courses, where more advanced learners can develop their skills in these highly specialized treatments.

"The audience was incredibly engaged during my presentation. I aimed to inspire those in the aesthetics field to strive for excellence, thereby enhancing patient care," Bruno added.

Improving the industry as a whole has long been a goal of Bruno's, highlighted by her speaking at InMode's conference in addition to her work with companies like Merz Aesthetics, who developed Radiesse. Her philosophy also drove the founding of Injector Coach Institute, operating at a higher level to ensure students gain the hands-on experience necessary to succeed safely and confidently within medical aesthetics and injecting. Training courses designed by Bruno offer advanced learning options and ongoing mentorship to ensure students and graduates are supported throughout their career with the intent of creating a community that elevates aesthetics.

"During times I was not on stage, I was still in the front row with my notebook, learning from my physician peers. Everyone in this industry has something spectacular to teach someone else," continued Bruno. "We all encounter different patients, handle different complications, and utilize different therapies. When people who have been practicing in aesthetics for a very long time are on that stage, I listen. I want to absorb all the knowledge I can so that I can teach it to others."

Injector Coach Institute has upcoming courses open for enrollment from medical professionals. Mind Body & Soul Medical is also taking appointments for new and existing patients.
