Peel and Stick Wall Murals, previously recognized as 808 Wall Art, has recently transitioned to new ownership, now operating under the leadership of Charles Platon from Platon Graphics. This transition signifies a major turning point for the company as it launches into a phase focused on delivering a broader spectrum of top-notch, effortlessly applied, and removable wall murals. Coinciding with this change, the company is excited to unveil a new website and reaffirm its dedication to improving both its services and product range, as elaborated on their new peel and stick wall mural collection page.

With Charles Platon at the helm, Peel and Stick Wall Murals is set to expand its offerings not just by preserving its renowned collection of mural designs, including categories like abstract, beach/tropical, and cityscapes/skylines but also by rolling out personalized prints and business branding options. This initiative aims to cater to a varied clientele, from homeowners to businesses aspiring to embed distinctive branding touches into their environments.

“Stepping into this thrilling phase, our dedication to pushing the boundaries of innovation and maintaining high standards of quality with every peel and stick wall mural remains firm,” expressed Charles Platon. “Our foundational aim to seamlessly transform settings is carried forward with our easy-to-use murals, continually proving our commitment to this vision.”

The introduction of a redesigned website marks a new chapter for the company and establishes a user-friendly platform for customers to browse through an improved and expanded selection of murals designs while learning about product quality, customer testimonials, and DIY guidance. The website embodies the company’s goal to simplify the browsing and application process of its murals. To make its products even more attainable, Peel and Stick Wall Murals is offering free shipping on all items, further reducing barriers for customers wanting to enhance their spaces.

“Staying attuned to our customers’ ever-changing wall mural preferences is of utmost importance,” Platon mentioned. “Through our customized wall mural prints service, individuals can transform valued memories into monumental murals. Meanwhile, our business branding solutions present companies with an inventive way to boost their brand visibility.”

The shift to being under new ownership and the debut of a refreshed website symbolizes a critical moment for Peel and Stick Wall Murals. The company is on a mission to revolutionize the perception and utilization of murals, simplifying the decorative and branding efforts for both individuals and businesses. With a strong digital footprint on various social media outlets and an attentive customer service team, Peel and Stick Wall Murals stands ready to offer continuous support and inspiration to its clientele.

Peel and Stick Wall Murals has made big strides in order to compete in the wall mural marketplace. They recently announced 5-7 day shipping times on all wall murals in a previous press release. This move to shorten shipping times should help the company be more competitive in the increasingly crowded reusable wall mural space.

As Peel and Stick Wall Murals steps into a fresh era, the aspirations defined by Charles Platon and Platon Graphics are evident - to establish itself as a frontrunner in providing premium, accessible, and cutting-edge wall murals that suit a wide range of tastes and preferences. Customers are encouraged to measure their spaces, peruse the website, and immerse themselves in the realm of user-friendly, peel-and-stick wall art, thus metamorphosing their surroundings with vibrant and eye-catching designs.
