An SEO services provider in Houston, TX, is proud to announce that they are now offering a free marketing analysis on top of their other range of services. The online business analysis is designed to show customers what their current online exposure is. It also compares this to three of their competitors, as well as provide recommendations for improvement.

"SEO is all about gaining online dominance and authority," says Garrett Laidler from SEO Houston Pros. "A lot of businesses think they are doing well because they are getting quite a bit of traffic but what they don't realize is just how much better they could be doing. We have the expertise and knowledge to get our clients to the top but we first want them to know what their current position is. This is what our marketing analysis does and we know that some businesses have been very surprised about the results that they got."

The company also runs a regular SEO blog. This is designed to give people hints and tips on how to best run their own SEO campaign. It also goes over industry news and developments. The blog also highlights the various services that the company offers and their importance. These services include SEO, reputation management, website design and social media marketing. Put together, these services help their clients to truly dominate their particular market.

The services offered by SEO Houston Pros have been very positively received by many. "I have used SEO companies in the past, without a lot of success," says Sloan L. "Garrett and his crew offered a free analysis of my website. I was skeptical, but the report was really comprehensive and had some very good suggestions. They implemented a plan I could afford and got me onto the first page of Google. Totally worth every penny I spent."

The company is also a WordPress expert. WordPress is currently the go to platform for website building and blogging, being easy to use and understand. Using this as their main platform, they help others achieve online dominance in a way that they can then manage themselves.
