Boasting a distinguished career rooted in a passion for improving lives through NUCCA chiropractic techniques, Dr. Harrison has garnered recognition as the Best Chiropractor in San Francisco.

A Palmer College of Chiropractic alumnus, Dr. Harrison's journey into chiropractic care was sparked by his personal experience with sports injuries and a life-altering car accident. This certification ensures that patients receive the highest standard of care, with every adjustment meticulously tailored to their unique misalignment.

The cornerstone of The Balanced Atlas's approach lies in its comprehensive evaluation process. Unlike traditional chiropractic methods that rely on forceful manipulations, NUCCA adjustments are gentle and non-invasive, making them suitable for individuals of all ages and health conditions. Patients often report feeling immediate relief and improved mobility following their sessions, testament to the efficacy of Dr. Harrison's approach.

"The team at The Balanced Atlas values its patients and understands that visiting a new healthcare provider can be daunting," says Dr. Harrison. "That's why they strive to create a welcoming environment where individuals feel empowered to take control of their health journey."
