Atco, NJ business On Time Website Traffic has released new information on the importance of video marketing. What they have found demonstrates that video marketing drives traffic fast, which means it has the potential to propel businesses to online dominant positions. The company's video marketing services, Video Works, has long been very popular, and this new research clearly demonstrates why.

Marcus Brown, founder of On Time Website Traffic, says: "Video marketing is the new content. It is an opportunity to communicate directly with customers, getting more personal with them, and they appreciate this. We offer a low cost budget project that can help our clients create a full video for their own marketing efforts."

The video marketing solution offered by On Time Website Traffic involves a team coming into their client's location. They then spend several hours on site and use this time to create a personalized video, in-house. This means that each video is unique and that it properly reflects the business itself.

On Time Website Traffic now also offers the Bundle Package. This option includes all the services that the company is known for, including manual website submission to various directories, as well as the video marketing option. This particular package is proving to be really popular. "I have worked with On Time Website Traffic before and have always been pleased with their results," says Tania R. "When they released their bundle package, affordable as always, I knew I had to try it out. I'm so glad I did. The process of making the video was very inclusive and I felt like my input was truly valued. The shooting of the video itself was nerve-wracking, as I'm not a TV person, but they made me feel really comfortable. Most importantly, the results are amazing. Well done guys."

The company encourages everybody to visit their website for further information on the different packages they offer. They have also included a section on the importance of video marketing. This provides people with the information they need in order to truly understand the importance of this form of marketing in today's world.
