Ministry-To-Children Celebrates 17 Years as a Pioneer Children's Ministry Website

April 18, 2024

Sellersburg, Indiana - April 18, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ministry-To-Children.com has carved a niche for itself as the foremost online destination offering complimentary, biblical content expressly designed for children's ministry, commemorating 17 years of service to churches and individuals around the globe. Founded by Tony Kummer in 2007, the platform has emerged as an indispensable tool, providing a broad spectrum of resources that span from Bible lessons tailored for youngsters, craft ideas that enhance learning, to a whole curriculum structured for children's ministry initiatives. Celebrating this significant milestone highlights more than a decade of unwavering dedication toward enriching the spiritual knowledge and growth of children everywhere.

When Tony Kummer initially laid the foundation for Ministry-To-Children, it was out of a discerned necessity for readily available, high-caliber resources aimed at imparting teachings about God's boundless love and His principles. Conveying his thoughts on this landmark occasion, Tony articulated, "The genesis of Ministry-To-Children was inspired by an evident gap for accessible, quality resources dedicated to spiritually educating kids about God. Our mission was unequivocal from the outset to offer these resources without charge to ensure that each child had the opportunity to delve into God's teachings, unhindered by any financial limitations that might constrict a ministry. Observing the trajectory we have embarked upon over the past seventeen years, alongside the considerable number of individuals we've had the privilege to impact, fills me with great humility.?

Today, Ministry-To-Children is hailed as an essential resource by a diverse group of stakeholders, including pastors, Sunday School teachers, parents homeschooling their children, and educators within Christian schools. By presenting a variety of material ranging from kids' Bible lessons available as free PDFs to dynamic lessons on YouTube, the platform guarantees that engaging, educational content is accessible to anyone with internet connectivity. This commitment to providing versatile and digital resources came into critical focus, particularly during times when global pandemic restrictions temporarily hindered traditional avenues of children's ministry.

Among the latest news from Ministry-To-Children is the significant enlargement of their lessons on YouTube, a strategic move that has considerably broadened the access to their offerings. Transitioning their curriculum into a video format has simplified the presentation of Bible lessons, making them more appealing and straightforward for educators and parents to convey. This innovative approach has markedly extended their reach, facilitating remote learning and assisting ministries as they navigate the shift towards more digitally oriented forms of instruction.

Looking ahead, Tony Kummer touches upon the prospective path Ministry-To-Children aims to tread, ?As we mark the celebration of our 17th anniversary, it reignites in us a reflection on the journey we've undertaken and the endless possibilities that lie before us. Our aspirations continue to revolve around enlarging our pool of content and extending our reach, ensuring that every child is afforded the opportunity to experience the teachings and love of Jesus Christ in ways that are both engaging and within easy reach. Venturing into new formats, exemplified by our lessons on YouTube, and maintaining a fresh cache of resources are strategies aimed at adapting to the continually evolving landscape of children's ministry globally.?

Consistently, Ministry-To-Children pledges its allegiance to its original mission?providing no-cost, top-quality resources for the enrichment of children's ministries across the board. Their exhaustive array of materials, now expanded to include digital formats, demonstrates an unwavering commitment to both innovation and the outreach of children's spiritual education.
