July 17, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

FreshBI, a renowned boutique Microsoft Silver Partner, is proud to unveil its latest innovation: a novel custom Power BI integration solution designed specifically for users of Xero Accounting software. This cutting-edge tool addresses and overcomes the challenges and limitations that users currently face with the Xero app's Power BI online integration capabilities. The custom connector, which is still in the phase of beta testing, presents a suite of functionalities that notably elevate data manipulation and reporting flexibility for small to mid-sized enterprises relying on Xero for their accounting responsibilities.

This custom Power BI integration developed by FreshBI introduces the ability for users to create custom measures, establish direct integrations, consolidate data across multiple Xero accounts, and set up scheduled data refreshes. These enhancements not only enable more detailed financial reporting and analytics but also allow users to integrate their Xero data with other datasets seamlessly. Such a degree of integration and customization was not achievable with the standard options provided by the Xero app in Power BI online until now. This breakthrough represents a significant leap forward in making sophisticated business intelligence tools more accessible and useful for users.

Craig Juta, CEO of FreshBI, highlighted the strategic significance of this advancement, stating, "Our mission with this custom Power BI integration was to unlock the full potential of business intelligence for small and mid-sized enterprises. By bridging the gap between Xero and Power BI, we're equipping businesses with the tools they need to derive actionable insights from their financial data, which is more critical now than ever."

Implementing this custom connector is straightforward, with comprehensive guidance provided on FreshBI's website. Users can find step-by-step instructions on purchasing, downloading, and configuring the connector within Power BI, facilitating a user-friendly experience that does not require extensive technical knowledge. Nevertheless, FreshBI's dedicated team is readily available for additional customization and support, ensuring that every user can fully harness the power of the custom connector.

In line with this release, FreshBI commits to ongoing enhancements of their custom Power BI integration solution, aiming to align with their clients' continuously changing needs. Madeline Henderson, a lead developer at FreshBI, remarked, "We've closely listened to the feedback from our beta testers and are diligently working on refining the custom connector. Our goal is to ensure that it serves as a robust tool that makes financial reporting and analysis as intuitive and insightful as possible for our users."

This development marks a substantial improvement in FreshBI's spectrum of services, which already includes a diverse selection of business intelligence solutions geared towards helping enterprises strategically utilize their data. Among these services, FreshBI proudly offers Strategy, Pocket Dashboard, Plug-and-Play Financial Dashboard, Distributing Happiness, Pocket Financials, Cash to Cash Dash, Cash Runway Wizard, and Business Workflows, specifically tailored to enhance business operations and financial management.

With the introduction of this new custom Power BI integration for Xero, FreshBI is set to further cement its status as an essential figure in the business intelligence domain, especially among enterprises and users in search of superior financial data analysis tools.
