Philadelphia, PA?Dr. Brannon Claytor, a board-certified plastic surgeon at Claytor Noone Plastic Surgery, has been featured in USA Today's prestigious list of ?Top Medical Professionals to Look Out For in 2024.? This acknowledgement underscores Dr. Claytor?s commitment to ideal patient outcomes and his use and advancement of innovative plastic surgery techniques.

?Our team is dedicated to achieving optimal results that look remarkably natural and streamlining recovery,? said Dr. Claytor. ?Being honored by USA Today is a testament to our commitment to medical excellence as well as serving our patients.?

Dr. Claytor is an award-winning plastic surgeon who is well-known in Bryn Mawr and the Philadelphia Main Line area, and nationally known for his expertise in deep plane facelift technique to achieve natural looking, yet transformative, facial anti-aging results. Equally noteworthy is his innovative drain-free tummy tuck technique for improved plastic surgery recovery. Dr. Claytor?s inclusion in USA Today?s list of top doctors highlights his many contributions, such as these, to the field of plastic surgery. Still, Dr. Claytor himself is most energized by his impact on patients? lives.

?Each day at my practice, I see patients? lives transformed by procedures like deep plane facelifts and drain-free tummy tucks,? Dr. Claytor commented. ?While any recognition is an honor, the joy my patients express at their follow-up appointments will always be the best reward.?

This recognition follows closely behind several other presentations, awards, and publications in national plastic surgery journals. Dr. Claytor presented his research and techniques at five national and international plastic surgery conferences in fall of 2023, including meetings of the American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS), The Aesthetic Society, and the American Academy of Facial Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery (AAFPRS); he won ?Best Paper? from the medical journal Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery for a paper on postoperative scar care with microneedling; and he continues to be named a ?Top Doctor? by Philadelphia Magazine and Main Line Today each year.
