Nicosia, Cyprus - May 22, 2024 -

The European Institute of Plastic Surgery (EIPS), led by renowned Dr. Demetris Stavrou, is proud to announce the wide availability of the mommy makeover procedure across its various locations in Cyprus. This procedure is a testament to recognizing the multifaceted physical transformations women experience due to pregnancy, childbirth, and breastfeeding. Designed as an all-encompassing solution, the mommy makeover at EIPS integrates several surgical techniques tailored to each woman?s unique situation, including breast augmentation or lift, abdominoplasty (tummy tuck), and liposuction. For anyone considering this life-changing procedure, further details can be found at https://eips.com/procedures/mommy-makeover/.

The mommy makeover consists of a series of cosmetic surgeries that comprehensively address the physical alterations endured by women post-pregnancy. It includes breast surgeries aimed at refining the size and shape of the breasts, which often undergo changes due to breastfeeding or aging. The tummy tuck removes excess skin and fat while fortifying muscles that have likely been weakened or stretched. Liposuction is employed to meticulously shape the body by removing stubborn fat deposits. This integrative approach promises to not only refine physical contours but significantly enhance self-perception and happiness.

Dr. Stavrou stresses the importance of personalized surgical plans, asserting, ?At the European Institute of Plastic Surgery, our commitment to customized surgical strategies sets us apart. The mommy makeover is designed around the specific physical and aesthetic concerns of each patient. By offering tailored care and leveraging the latest surgical innovations, our aim is to surpass patient expectations in achieving their desired results.?

EIPS prioritizes patient care and satisfaction above all, providing a comprehensive support network from the initial consultation through to post-operative recovery. The institute employs the latest technology and methods to ensure the best possible outcomes and a smooth recovery. There?s also a strong focus on thorough pre-surgical planning and maintaining open lines of communication, creating a foundation of trust and collaboration between Dr. Stavrou and his patients.
