Richardson, TX - May 14, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Go Industries Inc., esteemed for its innovation in truck accessories, law enforcement gear, and bespoke manufacturing, is thrilled to unveil its newest offering: heavy duty headache racks for trucks. This latest addition is designed to amplify trucks' functionality and safety, marking yet another step in Go Industries' commitment to providing high-quality, practical solutions for truck owners. Operating out of Richardson, Texas, since 1978, the company has consistently led the way in crafting durable automotive accessories that stand the test of time and utility. The launch of the heavy duty headache racks further cements Go Industries' reputation for versatility and unwavering customer satisfaction.

Characterized by their sturdy build, the heavy duty headache racks boast a 6" x 2" steel top tube, flanked by 2" x 2" bottom and vertical tubes, all anchored by a 24" x 3" heavy-duty foot for unparalleled strength. Engineered to shield the truck's rear window from potential damage by ensuring cargo remains in the bed, these racks feature large 3/16" louvers to protect the glass while still maintaining visibility. Customers can choose between a white or black powder coat finish, offering not only practical benefits but also an aesthetic enhancement to their vehicle. Additionally, these racks are fitted with LED red and clear lights, with an optional third brake light, for increased safety during night drives. Proudly made in the USA, every rack comes with a three-year warranty for materials and workmanship and a six-month warranty on the finish, illustrating Go Industries' confidence in the product's quality and durability.

Alongside the heavy duty headache racks, Go Industries delivers an extensive array of truck accessories, from grille guards and bumper replacements to air flow tailgates and steps. The company also caters to law enforcement agencies with specialized vehicle equipment and offers custom manufacturing services to meet unique customer needs.

"Go Industries is excited to further diversify our truck accessory range with the launch of our heavy duty headache racks. Our commitment to excellence and addressing the dynamic needs of our customers is at the forefront of this product's design. It embodies our dedication to enabling an enhanced trucking experience through superior protection and functionality," remarked a Go Industries spokesperson.

These heavy duty headache racks are engineered for a hassle-free installation process, requiring no cutting or drilling, thus making them easy to mount. They are also crafted with the tilt body in mind, allowing for effortless hood access without the necessity of removing the rack, thereby providing truck owners with both enhanced protection and convenience.

"As we persist in innovating and broadening our product lineup, the introduction of our heavy duty headache racks symbolizes yet another stride in our quest to offer top-tier products that meet our customers' practical needs and elevate their vehicles' value. We are dedicated to excellence in both our products and services, and we eagerly anticipate the positive reception of our new headache racks in the market," added the Go Industries spokesperson.

The heavy duty headache racks are immediately available for purchase through Go Industries' website, which also features a selection tool aiding customers in ensuring the rack fits their truck by specifying the year, make, model, and color of their truck. Focused on customer satisfaction and quality, Go Industries remains a benchmark in the realm of truck accessories and professional equipment.
