May 28, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Powers Kerr & Rashidi, PLLC, a preeminent Family Law Attorney firm nestled in the heart of Austin, Texas, is excited to announce a major rebranding initiative that mirrors the firm's growth and evolving expertise, particularly in handling intricate divorce cases. The introduction of a fresh name alongside a new website, <https://www.pkrfamilylaw.com/>, marks a significant step in the firm's journey, particularly after welcoming a new attorney, Kayvon Rashidi, into their ranks. This development is a testament to the firm's ongoing commitment to offer exemplary legal services both within the Austin region and beyond.

The transition to Powers Kerr & Rashidi, PLLC represents more than a mere change in nomenclature; it highlights the firm's steadfast commitment to embracing diversity and inclusivity in its operations. The launch of the website as the firm's revamped digital platform provides an accessible route for individuals seeking detailed information on various family law services such as divorce, adoption, child custody, among others. Designed for ease of use, the website aims to be a definitive source for both current and prospective clients to explore the scope of the firm's offerings, learn about the attorneys, and make well-informed decisions regarding their legal needs.

Bill Powers, a managing attorney at Powers Kerr & Rashidi, PLLC, shared his excitement about the rebranding endeavors, noting, "We are extremely proud to announce our new website and firm name, which reflects our collective expertise and commitment to family law. This change is a manifestation of our firm's dynamic growth, the expansion of our service offerings, and our steadfast dedication to our clientele. We believe the website will become an indispensable resource for those navigating their legal pathways."

Beyond the unveiling of their new website, Powers Kerr & Rashidi, PLLC invites the community to Follow Us on Facebook and connect with the firm on Twitter. These social media channels provide a vibrant space for clients and the wider community to stay abreast of the latest firm announcements, glean insights into legal matters, and observe developments in the realm of family law. The firm's bolstered digital presence is geared towards cultivating a community feel and establishing open channels for communication with their audience.

Reflecting on the significance of digital and social media platforms in the contemporary legal landscape, Bill Powers added, "Adopting social media and technology enables us to engage with our clients and the community on a more intimate basis. We encourage everyone to Follow Us on Facebook and to become part of our Twitter community. These platforms are not merely for broadcasting our achievements; they're essential for educational outreach and interaction on pivotal family law issues."

Powers Kerr & Rashidi, PLLC is unwavering in its commitment to aid the families of Austin, Texas, and its surrounding locales with utmost integrity, empathy, and professionalism. The firm's rebranding and expanded digital footprint are reflective of its dedication to achieving excellence in the practice of family law and facing the future while honoring the core values that have cemented its past accomplishments.
