January 11, 2016 -
Heartbeatmuzic, a business in Port Harcourt, Rivers State, Nigeria, has released a new method to help people promote their music online. The service enables people to do this from the comfort of their own home, enabling payments through credit or debit cards. Music artists and brand managers alike have already been very positive about the results. Full details are available through http://www.heartbeatmuzic.com/promote-your-music-2.

Chris Obaino from Heartbeatmuzic says: "Our new service offers a brand new take on online music promotion. We have shown that it is possible to hit the target of 1,256,100 music downloads in a very short period of time. This is a significant amount of downloads, which enables artists and brand managers alike to get their name out in the world."

Heartbeatmuzic, as shown on their website on http://www.heartbeatmuzic.com, is a highly respected company. They have been creating what listeners call a unique and beautifully raw style of music for many years. Their new service is all about enabling up and coming artists to make their mark and the industry, and the world at large.

Over the years, Heartbeatmuzic has earned itself an excellent reputation and they are now classed as one of the best artist promotion and music publishing businesses in the world. "As a musician, I know that the majority of music publishers have quite a poor reputation," says Sean T. "Heartbeatmuzic, however, is an exception. They have helped me in so many different ways and they have enabled my fans to get a taste of what my music is all about. I couldn't ask for a better music publicity service."

The company understands that music publicity is about making sure people know new music has been released. It is about exposure of tracks and artists alike. They understand that this industry is a cut-throat industry that is incredibly difficult to get into, but their service offers new artists a stepping stone to fame.

The company has also recently launched their Facebook page on www.facebook.com/heartbeatmuzic and they encourage everyone to 'Like' their page. This will enable people to stay up to date with industry news and more.
