May 29, 2024 -
OptiSkyn Skin Care Clinic, operating out of Davenport, IA, is proud to unveil its latest endeavor in the realm of skin care advancements, this time introducing the Plasma Pen treatment to residents of the Quad Cities. This forward move serves to enrich their current selection of skin care treatments with an innovative approach that avoids invasive techniques. The Plasma Pen is celebrated for its ability to offer skin lifting, tightening, rejuvenation, resurfacing, and regeneration, boasting notable enhancements in skin aesthetics and texture. This new offer falls in line with the clinic's commitment to integrating state-of-the-art technologies into its skin care practices, complementing the revolutionary Red Light Therapy rolled out recently.

Employing the principle of using plasma energy, the Plasma Pen treatment meticulously induces minor trauma on the skin's outer layer. This process sparks the body's own repair mechanisms, encouraging the natural production of collagen and elastin. It is designed to be universally applicable across diverse skin areas, setting its sights on correcting a plethora of skin issues including, but not limited to, wrinkles, skin laxity, and texture irregularities.

Yvonne Wright, who spearheads OptiSkyn Skin Care Clinic as its founder and serves as a certified Plasmatologist, expresses her enthusiasm, ?We are thrilled to introduce the Plasma Pen treatment in our clinic. This technology not only expands our capabilities in providing top-tier skin care solutions but also aligns with our mission to offer safe, effective, and non-invasive treatments to our clients. Our goal is to help individuals achieve their desired skin results with minimal discomfort and downtime."

The clinic's commitment to adopting comprehensive and innovative skin care approaches is further underscored by its embrace of Red Light Therapy, a gentle procedure leveraging the benefits of low-level light therapy to enhance skin health. This method resonates with OptiSkyn?s dedication towards cutting-edge, non-invasive treatment modalities that promise safety and efficiency.

With the integration of the Plasma Pen treatment into its repertoire and the firm establishment of Red Light Therapy, OptiSkyn showcases its relentless pursuit of innovation and superior quality in skin care services. Offering a spectrum of advanced procedures from the Plasma Pen to personalized skin rejuvenation regimes, the clinic positions itself as a haven for individuals seeking reliable and effective skin care solutions.

"As we expand our services, we remain focused on using only FDA-approved, lab-tested treatments to ensure the highest standards of safety and efficacy," Wright emphasizes. "We invite the community to explore the benefits of our new Plasma Pen treatment and experience the difference that advanced technology can make in their skin care regimen."
