Carara Costa Rica to Open Gates to Their Ocean View Mountaintop Resort and Wellness Retreat in 2016

January 04, 2016

January 04, 2016 -
2nd January, 2016 ? Spanning 12,000 acres, the Carara National Park in Costa Rica is one of USA?s most popular national parks. Attracting tourists from all across the globe, the National Park has been kept in its most natural form. The park is known for its waterfall, the botanical gardens and the near-by Carara Mountain ocean view community. The Carara Praque 5 Star Ocean View Mountaintop Resort and Wellness Retreat is looking forward to opening in this popular tourist area in 2016.

The Carara Mountain ocean view community is a 750 acre community based higher than the sea level, giving a panoramic view of the ocean to its residents. While mostly residential, the community attracts tourists who come to the area looking forward to buy homes, flats or condos. It is stated that the community now has 4 phases complete.

The main topic of discussion amongst the public is the new Carara Praque 5 Star Ocean View Mountaintop Resort and Wellness Retreat which is set to open in the first quarter of 2016. Explaining the experience as ?luxury in the rainforest?, the representative for the project announced the details in an official statement.

?Our main theme with the Carara Praque 5 Star Ocean View Mountaintop Resort and Wellness Retreat is to give our visitors a luxury experience within rainforest. The tourists will get to experience nature in its truest form and wake up in the rainforest everyday while still having all the amenities and the luxuries of a 5 star resort experience,? stated the spokesperson, he further added ?We want to give people the comforts of a luxury vacation in an environment that enriches one?s body and mind, it will be serene, peaceful, beautiful and refreshing. Tourist will get to see the true form of Carara.?
