Sealevel Hot Yoga, based in Seattle and renowned as the city's leading hot yoga studio since its inception in 1996, is pleased to announce upgrades to its esteemed hot yoga teacher training program. This program is specifically designed to foster a new generation of Bikram Yoga instructors, ensuring adherence to the classic sequence of 26 postures and two breathing exercises. Beyond improving the personal practice of participants, this program aims to thoroughly equip them for their roles as educators, adhering strictly to the foundational principles established by Bikram Choudhury.

The distinctive hot yoga teacher training provided by Sealevel Hot Yoga offers a comprehensive curriculum. This encompasses an intense physical regimen coupled with an exhaustive exploration of yoga philosophy, ethics, and the subtleties of effective instruction. Led by seasoned instructors, who possess years of committed practice, the program is poised to be transformative. Graduates emerge not only adept in the physical intricacies of Bikram Yoga but also in the philosophical and ethical ideals required to motivate and guide their students.

"Our hot yoga studio is committed to being more than merely a venue for yoga practice; we aim to serve as a fertile environment for healing and personal evolution. The improvement of our hot yoga teacher training program mirrors our commitment to this vision," remarked a studio spokesperson. "We invite those who have a deep commitment to their yoga practice and are ready to advance to teaching, sharing the significant benefits of Bikram Yoga with others." Alongside the hot yoga teacher training, Sealevel Hot Yoga continues to offer a wide range of classes. The studio's flagship 90-minute classes meticulously follow the traditional Bikram Yoga sequence, guiding practitioners through a revitalizing suite of postures and breathing exercises in a meticulously heated setting.
