LimoRSVP, a smaller but among the best limo service Chicago, IL has to offer, has always been proud of their primary focus - providing a higher quality customer experience. This one key sets them apart from numerous competitors in the local ground transportation market. But what most people don't know is that rates this company bills for their professional limousine services are often less than Uber charges with its comparable division - UberBlack.

Surprisingly, no longer does a higher level of service automatically equate to higher prices. While actual rates depend on the specifics of a trip, it can be worthwhile to have this local firm provide a quote. One recent Chicago area price comparison showed some interesting results. A sample fare from Winnetka, IL to O'Hare was a firm $76.19 at LimoRSVP, while UberBlack's price ranged from $74-$98 for the same journey. Similarly, a LimoRSVP chauffeur-driven luxury automobile from Lake Bluff, IL to O'Hare International airport would cost $86.75 today. At UberBlack, the same trip would cost anywhere from $106 to $139.

Bud Hicks, CEO of LimoRSVP says: "A lot of people are shocked when they discover that riding in a new limousine, driven by a trained professional and backed by a fully-insured company that specializes in corporate limo services, can actually be cheaper than UberBlack. People tend to think of Uber as the lowest cost option across the board. But clearly, that's not the case.?

Among some of the company's repeat clients, LimoRSVP has been referred to as the service that provides the optimal executive limo Chicago has to offer. With a foundation built on superior comfort, safety and reliability, there's a new advantage that's been kept under wraps, until now. Hicks believes that every client deserves a quality limousine ride that's also affordable. "When people ride with us once, there's a good chance they'll come back," claims the CEO who started the business back in 2005. "Everyone deserves to treat themselves to something special now and then. The fact that our service is often more affordable than UberBlack makes first-time customers even happier."

To keep people coming back, Hicks also offers discounts of 10% to 20% to regular riders and corporate account holders.

The company recently launched their Facebook page at: <https://www.facebook.com/limoRSVP> as part of their commitment to excellent customer service. This page offers people the opportunity to find out about industry news and any special offers. Their Facebook page also gives clients another public outlet to leave reviews and comments about their own experiences using their service.
