

Himalayan Trading Post Unveils New Collection of Reusable Soy Wax Jar Candles

July 01, 2024

DULUTH, GA - July 01, 2024 -
Himalayan Handmade Candles are delighted to present their exquisite collection of jar candles, which are now available on their website. These candles are crafted with high-quality soy wax and premium wicks, ensuring a long, even burn. Moreover, once the wax is finished, the jars can be repurposed as decorative containers, adding both beauty and practicality to your space.

The collection includes a variety of fragrances that bring back memories and a sense of place, with choices in Floral, Fresh, Citrus, and Woody scents. Each jar has a timeless look, using vintage-inspired glass jars with distressed metal screw-top lids. They come in two sizes: a larger jar of three inches by three-and-a-half inches, and a smaller one of two inches by two-and-a-half inches. All are hand-poured in Georgia using a clean-burning, United States-grown, fragranced soy wax blend.

"The jar candles not only provide a relaxing ambiance but are also designed to be reused or repurposed," said the Himalayan Handmade Candles team.
