HQ Cabling Services Ltd Expands Telecommunications Offerings Across London

July 17, 2024

Kent, England - July 17, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

HQ Cabling Services Ltd, a company with 18 years of experience in cabling installation, announced it is expanding its full suite of telecommunications services throughout greater London. Focused on both quality and customer satisfaction, the company offers network cabling, security systems, and audio-visual installations.

Greg Hart, CEO of HQ Cabling Services Ltd, stated, "Our extended services are designed to provide seamless, efficient, and reliable telecommunications solutions to meet the growing demand in London. We ensure that each project is executed to the highest standards, maintaining our commitment to exceptional service quality."

HQ Cabling Services Ltd specializes in various areas. Under network cabling, they handle fiber optics, structured data cabling, and wireless networking. Each installation is customized to meet client-specific requirements, showing the company's focus on offering professional and personalized services.

The company's security services include CCTV installations, access control systems, and smart wireless alarm systems. By partnering with reputable suppliers, HQ Cabling Services Ltd ensures high-standard installations, keeping their promise of safety and reliability for clients.

In the audio-visual sector, the company installs interactive touch screens, LED displays, projectors, video/audio conferencing systems, and home cinema setups. They take an active role, providing advice, support, and management for every project, always keeping the clients' needs in mind.

HQ Cabling Services Ltd also offers a range of electrical services such as installations and LED lighting solutions. They handle everything from site surveys to project management, including maintenance and service packages, showing their all-encompassing approach to meeting client needs.

To better serve the community, HQ Cabling Services Ltd provides 24/7 customer support and detailed technical information on all products and projects. They also offer free site surveys and no-obligation quotations to all clients, making access to their services transparent and straightforward. The company holds full insurance, DBS enhancement, and the latest health and safety certifications.
