August 07, 2024 -
Home Instead Yeovil & Bridport has announced the expansion of its award-winning care services to better support the local community. This move highlights the company's dedication to offering a variety of in-home care options tailored to individual needs. Led by Dr. Mark Hunt and Dr. Rebecca Gray, Home Instead Yeovil aims to deliver personalised and high-quality care similar to what they would want for their own parents.

The services provided by Home Instead Yeovil & Bridport include shopping assistance, diabetes monitoring, mobility help, healthy meal preparation, transportation support, medication assistance, and fall prevention. These services are aimed at helping clients maintain their independence and live comfortably at home. The company's focus on person-centred care ensures that each client gets attention suited to their specific needs and preferences.

Mark Hunt, owner of Home Instead Yeovil, said, "Our goal is to provide not just care but a genuinely supportive service that significantly enhances the quality of life for our clients. This expansion reaffirms our commitment to meeting the evolving needs of the community."

In January 2023, the Care Quality Commission (CQC) rated Home Instead Yeovil as "Good," recognising their dedication to exceptional care. The company also has a perfect score of 10 on homecare.co.uk and fourteen five-star reviews on Google. These awards reflect the company's strong track record of offering reliable and compassionate care solutions.

The expanded services cover a wide range of needs, from general support to specialised care. Home visits offer companionship, home help, night care, and respite care. Specialist care services provide support for conditions like Alzheimer's, dementia, cancer, and Parkinson's. Health care services are thorough, covering areas such as wound care and diabetes management.

Home Instead Yeovil & Bridport has been part of the community since April 2017. They operate from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Saturday, with 24-hour online support available. Their quick response times and effort to match clients with suitable care professionals promptly show their commitment to providing timely service.

Dr. Rebecca Gray stated, "Our team is trained extensively to ensure top-notch care delivery. We believe that the well-being of our clients comes first, and this drives us to continually enhance our services."

One of their key offerings is the live-in care service, which provides around-the-clock support for clients who need constant assistance. This service ensures that care professionals live in the client's home, creating a safe and supportive environment day and night.

Enhanced care is another feature of Home Instead Yeovil's services, using technology like home care apps, personal alarms, and health-monitoring sensors. These tools help ensure client safety and improve health monitoring.

Home Instead Yeovil also offers opportunities for individuals to become care professionals, providing extensive training and support to new team members. The company emphasises matching caregivers with clients to ensure a positive care experience for everyone involved.
