A standout offering is the assistance in establishing personal tax residency in Cyprus through the ?60-day? rule, also known as the ?non-domicile regime.? This regime is recognized globally by international tax professionals for its attractiveness and simplicity. By spending just 60 days in Cyprus during a calendar year and not residing in any other country for more than six months within the same year, individuals can become Cyprus tax residents. This provides substantial advantages for those looking to minimize their tax responsibilities, especially concerning crypto investments.
