July 31, 2024 -

Log Building Maintenance and Restoration recently announced a new addition to their range of services for log homes. The company now offers log home media blasting. This process restores the natural beauty of wood surfaces by removing old finishes and preparing the logs for a fresh protective stain.

The team at Log Building Maintenance and Restoration in Milton, PA, aims to boost customer satisfaction by including media blasting in their comprehensive suite of services. Sharon Kuhns, the company's spokesperson, shared her thoughts on the new service. "Media blasting is crucial for achieving a thorough and effective restoration of log homes," Kuhns said. "It allows us to remove years of grime, old finishes, and weathering from the wood surfaces without damaging the logs themselves." More on their detailed services can be found at their main website.

The company has built a reputation for meticulous work and preserving the structural integrity of log homes.

Their media blasting service uses fine materials to clean the surface of the logs gently. This method is both effective and eco-friendly, as it reduces the need for chemicals and water.

Besides media blasting, Log Building Maintenance and Restoration offers many other services. These include home inspections, heat loss and moisture detection using thermography, log replacement, chinking, insect damage treatment, and fire restoration. They also provide air filtration systems to improve indoor air quality and roof cleaning services to remove moss and algae.

"Our goal is to offer a full range of services that address every aspect of log home maintenance and restoration. With media blasting, we can now ensure an even more comprehensive restoration process," Kuhns noted.

The new service has already received positive customer feedback. Cheryl, a satisfied customer, commented on the effectiveness of the company's media blasting technique. She used Log Building Maintenance and Restoration's services for her homes in Pennsylvania and New York. Cheryl praised the team's ability to restore her Western Red Cedar home using a chemical strip job combined with extensive orb sanding. Her five-star review highlights the company's consistent quality and dedication to meeting customer expectations.

The company also has an online shop offering log home maintenance supplies, enabling homeowners to purchase materials for ongoing care. By providing both services and products, Log Building Maintenance and Restoration aims to be a one-stop solution for log homeowners.

Log Building Maintenance and Restoration's commitment to excellence is clear in their careful selection of materials and methods. Media blasting is particularly suitable for log homes as it preserves the wood while removing unwanted finishes and contaminants. This makes the wood not only clean but also ready for further treatment and protection.

As the company continues to grow its service offerings, customers can expect the same level of quality and attention to detail that sets Log Building Maintenance and Restoration in Milton, PA, apart from its competitors.

Looking ahead, Log Building Maintenance and Restoration plans to expand its services further and continue providing exceptional care for log homes. "We are always looking for ways to innovate and improve our services," Kuhns said. "Our commitment to our clients and their homes drives us to keep evolving and offering the best solutions available."

For more information on their log home media blasting service and other offerings, you can visit their website or their Google Maps listing. The company is also active on social media platforms such as Instagram, YouTube, and Facebook, where they regularly post updates and showcase their work. Log Building Maintenance and Restoration remains a trusted name in the industry, dedicated to maintaining and restoring the beauty and longevity of log homes.
