Auburn, NY ? Auburn Eye Care are proud to announce that their optometry practice has been voted Best in the Region for the 17th year in a row by The Citizen. Located at 232 Genesee St, Auburn, NY 13021, this long-running distinction is a direct result of the high-quality, tailored care that they provide. The trust they've built with their community is something they don't take for granted.

"Every year we win this award, our resolve to try even harder for our patients only increases," said Auburn Eye Care's business manager, Cammi Granato. "The staying power of our practice is rooted on how we focus on the patient: their experience and needs come first, always. And I am so very proud to be a part of a team that manages to maintain the impressive level of customer service that has made us their trusted partner in eye care."

Part of what has made it possible for their practice to expand and maintain a strong presence in the community is due to how adaptable their staff and services are ? eye health needs, disease management, and even picking out that perfect pair of frames is an experience tailored entirely for what patients need and want.

“From the moment our reception staff greets the customer to their final handshake before they head out the door, we want people to feel at home,” said Cammi. “And this trust wasn’t built overnight, either – we had to keep showing up, and keep offering the same level of service that our community had grown to love. Patients have a history here. Some have been with us for over 30 years, and we trust each other implicitly. That’s what great eye care is all about.”

In addition to their services and mission, Auburn Eye Care invests in exceptional cutting-edge technology. Their advanced diagnostic equipment allows their staff to offer highly precise eye exams, allowing their eye care team to better customize eye care for their patients – and provide standout vision prescription and treatment services for people of all ages.

Their optical services are in patients’ hands, too. Their knowledgeable optical team knows the latest fashion trends and has a large arsenal of frames at their disposal; regardless of a patient’s personal preferences, facial structure, and wardrobe, Auburn Eye Care will help guide you to a perfect fit.

“We enjoy helping patients, and the bonds we form with them only help improve their care,” concluded Ms. Granato. “In reality, we benefit as much as they do, because these personal connections are why we got into the business in the first place.”

Auburn Eye Care is currently accepting new and existing patients. People who wish to schedule an appointment and experience their high-quality care first-hand should call (315) 215-5622.
