PHOENIX, AZ - November 07, 2024 -
AXIS Real Estate today announced plans to expand its tenant eviction property management services in the Phoenix metropolitan area. The company aims to streamline the process for landlords and meet the growing demand for these specialized services.

Jason Sellers, the Designated Broker and owner of AXIS Real Estate, emphasized the new initiative. "With our expanded tenant eviction property management services, we aim to support landlords and also improve the rental experience for tenants in Metro Phoenix. We understand the unique challenges property owners and tenants face, and we are ready to manage these effectively."

AXIS Real Estate has played a major role in Phoenix's real estate market since 2008. Their property management covers various properties such as apartment buildings, office spaces, and retail spaces. The expanded service will use advanced technology to make monitoring tenant evictions easier and faster. This will save property owners time and effort while making sure they follow local and state regulations.
