

Master the Skies with PNW Skydiving: Launch of Expanded Accelerated Freefall Courses in Portland

August 30, 2024

August 30, 2024 -

PNW Skydiving has announced the continuation of its Accelerated Freefall (AFF) course for individuals wishing to learn to skydive in Portland. This comprehensive training program, running from April 1st through the end of September, offers participants the chance to become independent skydivers through a structured seven-level course.

Located at the Mulino State Airport, just 30 minutes from Portland, Pacific Northwest Skydiving Center provides a wide range of skydiving services. These range from tandem skydiving for first-time jumpers to options for licensed skydivers. The center also hosts events where skydiving enthusiasts can share their passion for the sport. PNW Skydiving is dedicated to safety and customer satisfaction, a commitment shown by their membership in the United States Parachute Association.

The AFF program is specifically designed for those wanting to learn how to skydive independently. It includes ground training and several jumps with experienced instructors. The course, divided into seven levels, starts with three levels that involve two instructors assisting the student during the freefall portion of each jump. The remaining four levels teach crucial skills such as turns, flips, forward movement, recovery from instability, and essential parachute techniques.

Natalie Thorp, a representative for the company, shared her confidence in the AFF course's structured approach. "The Accelerated Freefall program is a fantastic way for individuals to build their skydiving skills in a safe, supportive environment. Our instructors' expertise and commitment make all the difference," said Thorp.

Besides the AFF course, PNW Skydiving is dedicated to providing accessible skydiving experiences for people with disabilities. Their tandem skydiving service is designed to ensure everyone can enjoy the thrill of skydiving, customizing the experience to meet various needs.

PNW Skydiving also caters to licensed skydivers, offering access to their dropzone and aircraft. This ensures seasoned skydivers can continue to enjoy the sport in a well-managed environment. They also offer gift certificates, allowing people to give the unforgettable experience of skydiving to friends and loved ones.

The company has received high praise from its clientele, which is reflected in its 5.0 rating on Google reviews. One such review comes from a satisfied customer, Monse Feria, who described their experience as the "coolest ever," highlighting the staff's professionalism and the memorable skydiving adventure.

The center's operating hours are designed to fit various schedules. They are open from 12 PM to 9 PM on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and from 9 AM to 9 PM on Saturdays and Sundays. Thursdays are set aside for maintenance and staff rest, ensuring smooth operations and top-notch equipment.

Prospective students can reserve their spot in the AFF course by calling (503) 506-4857 or emailing pnwskydiving@gmail.com. A deposit is required to secure a place, covering the first part of the course and initial jumps. Participants must be at least 18 years old, weigh under 250 lbs, and be in good health to join the program.

Natalie Thorp also spoke about the significance of skydiving as an inclusive and empowering experience. "Skydiving isn't just about the thrill; it's about personal growth and achievement. At PNW Skydiving, we strive to make this incredible experience accessible to everyone, fostering a community of enthusiasts and newcomers alike."
