January 11, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

CEO and founder of PrimeEffects, Philip Jepsen, announced today that the free shipping on their Screaming Banshee Electric Motorcycle Air Horn will continue. This free shipping is being offered through sales of the horn on Amazon. The Screaming Banshee is a compact electric air horn weighing less than 3 pounds that can be installed in-line with an existing factory horn system. PrimeEffects is a consumer products company that delivers specialty products in the fields of health and safety.

"Through Amazon we're going to keep this free shipping deal going," says Mr. Jepsen. "And not just for Prime members. Anyone getting one of these horns can get it shipped free."

The Screaming Banshee is a secondary horn system intended to warn or alert other drivers. It is rated at 130+ decibels, a volume that is comparable to a jet fighter at takeoff. This is as loud as or louder than the loudest emergency sirens.

"We're happy to be making it as easy as possible to get one of these," says Mr. Jepsen. "It's such a compact little horn, you can fit it anywhere, and yet it makes such a terrifically loud noise. When you blast this thing you'll get the attention of everyone in every direction for blocks."

When activated the Screaming Banshee Motorcycle Air Horn emits a warbling two-tone sound that can be heard in the interior of a vehicle cabin up to 3 blocks away. At the time of activation it also flashes the motorcycle high beams, adding a visual component to the warning. The horn is activated through the factory horn button. A short tap activates the normal horn, a sustained depression of the button activates the Screaming Banshee. All mounting and wiring hardware is included. It is available with free shipping on Amazon.
