Save Money on International Moves: Burke Bros Moving Group's New Guide for Removals to Canada

September 04, 2024

Wolverhampton, England - September 04, 2024 -
Burke Bros Moving Group has announced the release of a comprehensive guide to help clients save money moving to Canada. This new guide offers valuable tips on how to cut expenses during the moving process, reinforcing the company's commitment to offering cost-effective and reliable services for international relocations.

Gary Burke, CEO of Burke Bros Moving Group, remarked, "We are excited to share these practical tips with our clients. Moving to another country can be a significant financial undertaking, and we believe our guide will help ease this burden for those planning to relocate to Canada."

The guide covers several strategies to save money moving to Canada. It includes tips like advanced planning, which helps clients get better rates for shipping and other services. Another key piece of advice is to declutter and downsize belongings before the move, as this can significantly reduce shipping costs. The guide also suggests choosing sea freight over air freight because it is usually a more economical option for international moves. Additionally, it recommends using a currency exchange service for transferring funds, as this can provide better rates compared to traditional banks.

Burke Bros Moving Group provides a full range of services for removals to Canada. Their service page offers detailed information on various options available to clients, such as full container loads, groupage (shared containers), baggage handling, and air freight. They also offer tailored international removal services to meet each client's specific needs.

One of the helpful tips in the guide is about groupage services. For clients who don't have enough items to fill an entire container, sharing space with other shipments can significantly lower costs. The guide points out that these savings can be substantial, especially for those moving smaller amounts of personal belongings.

Burke Bros Moving Group also offers door-to-door international removals to over 120 countries. Their services include export packing, advice on international quarantine and customs regulations, pre-shipping storage in the UK, and specialized packing. The company ensures a smooth and efficient moving process, using its network of preferred overseas agents.

"The experience we've gained over four decades in the moving industry has allowed us to refine our services continually. We strive to provide our clients with the most cost-effective and stress-free moving experience possible," added Gary Burke.

For those interested in learning more about how to save money when relocating to Canada, the guide can be accessed on the Burke Bros website. This page includes detailed advice and practical steps that anyone planning an international move can benefit from.

Additionally, clients can explore the full range of services offered for removals to Canada on Burke Bros' dedicated page on their website.
