

GoalDigger App Adds Revolutionary New AI Features

September 06, 2024

September 06, 2024 -
In a groundbreaking update, GoalDigger App has rolled out even more functionality, taking productivity tools to a new level. The latest feature available on IOS and Android, a revolutionary text-to-speech function powered by OpenAI?s beautiful and calming voice, is designed to help users concentrate, break down goals, and take productivity to the next level.

This new AI voice feature isn't just about making users' goals talk back to them; it's about creating an experience that actively supports goal achievement. With its soothing tone, this voice helps users focus, offering a more immersive way to stay connected with their goals.

"It's like having your personal assistant whisper your dreams back to you?keeping you calm, focused, and ready to take action. In the past week alone, we have also made significant advancements in our goal-setting features. Enter ?re-goal??a forward-thinking approach to recalling, reinforcing, and revisiting your goals in a way that sticks. But we didn?t stop at mere reminders; we?ve integrated a unique hypnosis-based system that taps into deeper cognitive processes. This isn?t just about remembering your goals but embedding them in your subconscious for ultimate productivity," said the GoalDigger app creator, Vitaliy Lano.

Lano commented on the shift the app represents, adding, "The era is changing. We're moving away from the group-centered, social media-driven approach, and into a time where every individual can have their own personal assistant or coach, guiding them to their goals. With AI technology, we're making sure that each user gets a personalized experience?structured just for them?alongside their journey to success. The information overload today can be overwhelming, so our minimalist design is intentional, helping people focus on what truly matters."

Lano also emphasized that GoalDigger is not just an app for goal-setting, saying it's a complete system. He noted that some developers asked him why it was so complex. He explained that GoalDigger is not just helping people succeed in one area of life; the goal of the app is to help users thrive everywhere. This system educates users, helps reshape their thinking process, and keeps them motivated by working with their subconscious mind. The AI-powered journaling and ?Shrink? features assist users in overcoming inner barriers, breaking bad habits, and taking action with ease. Lano said that he believes in a holistic approach that reflects on changes and encourages continuous progress.

As part of this ongoing evolution, the GoalDigger app is offering a 7-day free trial for all new users. According to Lano, "7 days is more than enough to feel the effect of the app, set your goals, and experience a new way of getting things done. We?ve designed the experience so that within just a week, users will start noticing how focused they become, and how much easier it is to make real progress on their goals." This trial allows users to explore the full range of features and see for themselves how the app can change the way they approach their personal and professional goals.

"We're pushing the boundaries of what a goal-setting app can do," added Lano. "With text-to-speech and the hypnosis approach, we?re ensuring our users not only stay on top of their goals but also become more focused and productive than ever."
