

United Contracting and Roofing Expands to Clarkesville, Serving Cornelia with Top Roofer Services

September 09, 2024

September 09, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

United Contracting and Roofing has announced the opening of a new office in Clarkesville. This new office is part of the company's ongoing efforts to expand its service area and better meet the needs of customers in Northeast Georgia. The office will help them offer both commercial and residential roofing services to a wider audience.

United Contracting and Roofing is a family-owned business based in Atlanta. They also have branches in Northeast Georgia and in Greenville and Anderson, South Carolina. Their services include commercial roof restoration, repair, replacement, and inspection. For homeowners, they offer repair, replacement, and metal roofing services.

The Clarkesville office aims to provide quick support to local businesses and homeowners dealing with roofing issues. By placing resources closer to customers in Northeast Georgia, the company can respond faster and offer efficient service.

Jeremy Perry, a representative of the company, commented on this strategic move. "The decision to open a new office in Clarkesville is a reflection of our commitment to our customers. We want to ensure that we are available whenever and wherever our customers need us," said Perry. "Our team is excited to become a part of the Clarkesville community and to provide high-quality roofing services that our clients have come to expect from us."

In addition to faster response times, the Clarkesville office will also offer United Contracting and Roofing's signature free on-site visits and inspections. This lets them provide accurate estimates and a clear understanding of the work needed, which helps build customer trust and transparency.

The company has several industry accreditations, including a Better Business Bureau (BBB) accreditation and GAF Master Elite status. These recognitions highlight their commitment to high standards of workmanship and reliable service. They work with premium roofing brands such as GAF, Tropical, General Coatings, Davinci, NCFI, and Atlas.

Jeremy Perry also spoke about the company's vision. "At United Contracting and Roofing, we strive to build long-lasting relationships with our clients. Our new office in Clarkesville is just one way we aim to provide better service and ensure customer satisfaction."

Residents and business owners in Clarkesville can expect timely and professional roofing services. The company handles all aspects of roofing, from minor repairs to complete roof replacements. Their commercial services aim to extend the life of existing roofs with cost-effective solutions like roof restoration and repair. For those needing complete replacements, the team provides expert installation focused on durability and longevity.

Services at the new location will match those offered at their other offices. Commercial clients can access roof restoration, repair, and replacement services, along with inspections to spot potential problems early. The company also provides commercial metal and TPO roofing services, known for their durability and energy efficiency.

Residential roofing solutions include repair, replacement, and metal roof installation. These services ensure homes are protected against the elements and remain structurally sound for years. Homeowners can also get help with insurance claims related to roof damage.

United Contracting and Roofing uses high-quality materials and employs experienced professionals for all projects. Each job site is overseen by a dedicated Project Manager who ensures that the work is done efficiently and to high standards.

The Clarkesville office is a significant step forward for United Contracting and Roofing, as the company continues to grow in the Southeastern United States. Customers in the region can now expect the same level of dedicated service and expertise that has made the company a trusted name in roofing.

The new office represents both growth and the company's dedication to improving service and customer satisfaction. For more information about their services, interested parties can visit their website.

To schedule an inspection or learn more about the new office, clients can contact the company through their website or by phone. With the new Clarkesville branch, United Contracting and Roofing continues to build on its mission of providing reliable, high-quality roofing solutions across the region.

###

For more information about United Contracting and Roofing - Clarkesville Office, contact the company here: United Contracting and Roofing - Clarkesville Office Jeremy Perry +17708290166 info@roofingunited.com 200 Ellison St Suite B, Clarkesville, GA 30523

United Contracting and Roofing - Clarkesville Office

United Contracting & Roofing is a local, family-owned and operated business in Georgia and South Carolina. Our focus is long-lasting relationships with our clients, as well as quality roof repair and roof replacement service.

Website: <http://roofingunited.com/>

Email: info@roofingunited.com

Phone: +17708290166

